Over-Crowding, Other Housing Violations, to Bring More Inspection of Rental Units

Rent-levelling has probably caused the Borough government more "should we, shouldn't we" than any issue Council has ever wrestled with.

"None of us feel it's the best thing we've ever done, in terms of workability," Mayor Robert W. Cawley said glumly this week.

At Council's work session Thursday, nobody seemed to know whether the ordinance is due to fade away on December 1 or December 31, but everybody agreed firmly that if it's December 1, the expiration date will be extended until December 31. Council simply has to have more time.

Intertwined with the rent-levelling ordinance is Council's acknowledgment that rental units haven't been inspected by the Health Department as they should have been.

"We've got to get housing inspection on the road," Mayor Cawley said firmly on Thursday. "I'm chagrined that it's lasted so long."

"We have been very remiss in the inspection of housing," said Council member Nelson van den Blink. "How can we link this with rent control, and see that housing violations are corrected? We should not allow a rent raise if there are violations."

"If a landlord doesn't want to raise the rent, can we allow him to run a slum?" demanded Council member Gus Escher. "The answer of course, is no."

Housing inspections have fallen behind for many years, chiefly because of staffing problems in the health office, and everyone knows this, including Health Officer David Blake, who runs the show.

The way it is now, Mr. Blake's office is only inspecting if a tenant complains. The Borough ordinance doesn't say how often rental units are to be inspected. Mr. Blake likes to inspect between tenants, and says, "We hope realtors will notify us when one tenant moves out and another moves in."

He says the Borough plans to change this inspection ordinance to follow the Township's, which requires inspection of change of occupant.

When Mr. Blake and his two associates, Andrew O'Hara and Leonard Williams, go out on an inspection, they look for plaster likely to fall, stairs without banisters, inadequate electric outlets. They want to be sure the plumbing works. They check to make sure there is hot-and-cold running water.

Keeping all these in repair costs a landlord money, and the rent-levelling ordinance takes that into account, in allowing rent increases.

THE CHARMING AND DELICATE
MUSCADET WINES

Muscadet (Muhs-Cad-Day) is a light white wine, produced in the lower Loire Valley of France from the grape of the same name. The rather large region of Muscadet is on the left bank at the mouth of the Loire on the small promontory that juts out into the Atlantic. It is the second largest producing area of the Loire Valley and the wine produced here is a fresh tasting, pale colored and agreeable wine that matures early. Muscadet has recently become popular because of its delicate bouquet and flavor. Muscadet is charming only when it is young and is the perfect accompaniment to seafood of all kind.

Sheehan's $5 Million Suit against Borough For "Harassment" Is Settled for $250,000

Timothy J. Sheehan's $5 million suit against 12 elected Borough officials and professional members of the Borough staff has been settled for $250,000.

Final action was taken late Friday afternoon in the courtroom of Superior Court Judge George Y. Schoch in Trenton. Disposition of the case involved only Mr. Sheehan and his lawyers on one side, and lawyers for Travelers Indemnity Company, former insurance carrier for the Borough, on the other. The Borough itself had no part in the action.

Asked whether the $250,000 would go toward completion of the Sheehan building at Nassau and Markham, Mr. Sheehan pointed out that the building is owned by the 146 Dundas Corporation (of which he is an officer).

"Just because I have money I have recovered in full settlement of damages done to me doesn't necessarily mean that money will go to the 146 Dundas Corporation," he stated. "It's a possibility, but not a probability."

No More Funding. "We'd like somehow to complete the building," he added, "but I would be very reluctant to put more money into it. It must stand on its own feet."

He said he had other plans for completing it (the Borough Zoning Board refused him permission to construct two more stories) but he declined to say what they are.

The Borough did not participate in discussions over the settlement after Judge Schoch last year ordered Travelers to reimburse the defendants for $100,000 in legal fees it had incurred in fighting the suit. Judge Schoch gave the insurance company full responsibility and told it to assume any damages that might be given Mr. Sheehan, up to the amount of the Borough's public liability policy, which was $250,000. This removed the Borough from the action.

Mr. Sheehan filed his suit in September, 1971, charging the 12 with personal injury, property damage and general harassment. The suit grew out of his unsuccessful attempt to obtain a building permit for the still-unfinished building after the Borough in 1968 had passed an ordinance prohibiting such construction in that neighborhood. The court ordered the Borough to issue the permit.

Various engineering problems arose and it was Mr. Sheehan's confrontation with the Borough about them, that led to his suit.

Defendants Listed. Those named in the suit, originally, were Mayor Robert W. Cawley; former mayor Henry S. Patterson; former Council members Alan W. Carrick, Charles H. Cornforth, Robert M. Hendry, Alfred E. Sorenson and William W. Walker.

Also Thomas J. Cawley, who was Borough engineer; Donald Harney, his assistant and later Borough engineer; Bernard Glover, building inspector; Gordon D. Griffin, Borough attorney, and Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney.

Later, Judge Schoch dismissed the complaint against Mayor Cawley, who wasn't in office when the 1968 ordinance was passed, and against Mr. Sorenson and Mr. Walker, who were only on Council 2½ months after the zoning ordinance was introduced. Mayor Patterson and Mr. Griffin were also removed.

Mayor Cawley said he was relieved and delighted that it was all over. Except for one thing:

"I wish we had had our day in court, so we could have shown that the claims against us were baseless," the mayor said.

He also said he was delighted that because of the court ruling regarding Travelers, "the taxpayers were protected."

Guess What Everybody Thinks of State's Study On Feasibility of Making Rt. 206 Four Lanes?

"We have no plans -- that's why we want to do the 206 study," said Donald Goodkind, assistant commissioner for highways of the state's Department of Transportation, to an audience of about 150 persons gathered Tuesday night in the Princeton Day School auditorium to let state and Federal Highway people know what regional feeling is about making four lanes out of Route 206.

The feeling, expressed with monotonous unanimity from speaker after speaker, is "No."

Neither Mr. Goodkind nor John Kessler Jr., division administrator for this region of the Federal Highway department, repeated the assurance made last spring by another state official to Township Mayor Josie Hall, that the state wouldn't turn Route 206 into a four-laner. In fact, at press time at least, that assurance had not been mentioned.

Route 206 enters the Township from the north as "State Road," becomes Bayard Lane in the Borough, then Stockton Street as it continues south and the Lawrenceville Road as it once again enters the Township and exits into Lawrence Township.

Officials are alarmed because Mr. Goodkind's office has announced that the 206 environmental impact study will have its southern terminal where Bayard lane, Stockton and Nassau (Route 27) all meet. The thought of a four-lane highway debouching into Nassau Street or a rural four-lane road stopping abruptly at the Princeton-Montgomery line, appalls officials of both Princetons, Montgomery and Lawrence, all of whose mayors were present Tuesday night.

Mr. Goodkind acknowledged in the beginning that the DOT wasn't sure how the impact of the increased traffic flows from a four-lane road could be handled. Gray Jones, mayor of Montgomery, snapped at that one, and drew spirited applause when he asked how the state could proceed, if it couldn't see a reasonable solution to traffic flow.

The long-proposed 92-A bypass, which would start just north of the Princeton Township line and veer southeast to Route One, was repeatedly viewed as an essential part of the regional road system.

Mayor Jones said he and Mayor Hall had blocked out an alignment straddling their township lines, but he said in exasperation that state refusal to project any 92-A alignment, now meant the state would have to condemn in Montgomery's town-house zone to build 92-A.

Harry Beskind of Lawrence, suggested that construction of I-95 wouldn't leave any money for 92-A. "Is this why 92-A hasn't been studied?" he demanded.

Mr. Goodkind replied that I-95 "doesn't impact" on 92-A.

It's hard to decide where the terminal of the study should be, Mr. Kessler explained. One terminal "points the gun" at the next, but a study can be so broad it's hard to handle. Stopping at Route 27 -- another state trunk -- seemed logical, though highway officials were aware of the Nassau Street traffic problem, he said.

At least, asked Township Committee member Margaret Broadwater, will the state do something about Route 206 drainage? Mr. Goodkind promised to "take it up tomorrow."

Samuel Hamill, of the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Study Council, said everybody needed data on the origin and destination of traffic. He urged a regional study, reminded highway officials that area communities "have chosen to unite" on 206 and 92-A and said it was "a fine chance to work together with state and local officials."

When Township Committee member Margaret Broadwater said it was "simply untenable" to be confronted with constant crises when you're trying to develop a master plan and asked him, "What are your intentions on 92-A?" Mr. Goodkind said the state hadn't decided yet how to approach the problem.

Housing Violations

area -- some residents say that the biggest problem is not plaster-and-plumbing repair, but over-crowding. Mr. Blake has two over-crowding complaints on his docket right now.

"There are an awful lot of people in one rooming-house I know of," says one Birch Avenue resident. "The Haitians are coming in here in droves, and it is definitely contributing to over-crowding."

The Borough's ordinance requires 150 square feet for the first occupant, and 100 for each one after that. There must be a minimum of 70 square feet for the first occupant of a sleeping room and 50 for each of the others.

Proof is Elusive. Inspectors have trouble proving over-crowding, Mr. Blake admits. A landlord can simply say all the people are "just visiting."

Council has provided a $10,000 annual salary for an additional person, who would be a certified "sanitarian." Like Mr. Blake and his staff, the new person would have other duties besides housing inspections.

The salary, however, is too low to attract many people, says Louise Bessire, head of the Regional (Borough and Township) Health Commission. She says the Commission does have "two or three live bodies" to interview, and will definitely have a helper for Mr. Blake, Mr. O'Hara and Mr. Williams by January 1.

If inspections are to be made before a new tenant should be allowed to increase the rent as much as they like between tenants, taking only a cost-of-living rent increase so long as one tenant stays.

That was the proposal made to Council Thursday by Frank Marlow of Kingston, who owns several Princeton units. He said that's what the Trenton ordinance allows, and he suggested it's a way to protect long-term tenants, like the elderly.

Tenants Protected.

"Doesn't the landlord find all kinds of ways to harass tenants so they'll move out?" asked Mr. Escher, "not doing repairs, that kind of thing?"

"The things tenants are afraid of, like harassment, aren't legal any more," Mr. Marlow explained. "Some tenants still don't know that."

When Mayor Cawley worried that such an ordinance would price out low-income families, Mr. Marlow shrugged: "Well, the newcomer could simply decide whether he wanted to live in an expensive community."

He also suggested that it might be better to peg luxury apartments -- not subject to rent-levelling -- at $300, rather than $500. He remarked that he has some pretty wealthy tenants paying only $300.

Rent-levelling is vexing and complex in Princeton for many reasons. One of the most difficult, politically, is the fact that most landlords are "the guy next door."

It would be relatively easy to legislate against the wicked absentee landlord operating out of corporate headquarters in New York. But Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney estimates that 90 percent of Princeton's rental units have "mom and pop" owners. Even where renting is the chief family business, as it is with the Alfred Kahn family, it's still a Princeton family with a Princeton base.

And needless to say, mom and pop are voters.

Profits Can Be Narrow. Mom and pop may also operate on such a slender margin that they can't meet taxes and improvements and still make a little profit, unless they raise the rent. But one Princeton landlord, Hans Lechner, who serves on the rent-levelling board, has said that landlords can do almost anything they wish under the current ordinance.

On the other hand, Mr. Escher told Council he'd heard of landlords who are selling their properties because there is no point in keeping them under the present ordinance.

"Tenants feel rents would be exorbitant if there were no control," Mr. Escher observed, and Mrs. van den Blink said tenants have told her the ordinance is "constructive."

Council doesn't seem to be divided along party lines where rent-levelling is concerned; in fact, not really divided at all, just baffled.

William Selden, said he'd prefer a world in which rent control didn't have to exist. That being out of the question, he said, he'll support renewal. Both he and Mrs. van den Blink -- a Democrat -- conceded that the Borough can't have quite as diversified a population as both would like it to have.

Responsibility Avoided. Democratic Council member Martin P. Lombardo, walking a line between landlord and tenant, chided Council for not having bought up houses or built them to rent to lower-income people and increase the housing stock.

"We're asking others to take financial responsibility, but we on Council haven't been willing to spend the money ourselves," he said.

"It would cost a lot of money and help only a few," Mrs. Van den Blink told him, pointing out that the Borough will be building a parking garage in order to make low-income housing possible. She was referring to Princeton Community Housing's proposed 100 units for the elderly on the western Playhouse parking lot.

Have landlords been raising the rent as high as the ordinance allows? Or have they levied more modest increases, under the allowable ceiling?

That's what Mayor Cawley wants to know. Council has asked Jayce Paul, rent-levelling co-ordinator, to find out.

Council also wants to know what rents are elsewhere. Are Princeton rents being driven up by rents in other towns?

A two-bedroom, one and one-half bath apartment in Plainsboro, for example, rents for $349, Mr. Marlow told Council.

"We can't control the entire mid-Jersey rental market," Mr. Escher said.

But Council decided to compare Princeton's rents with rents in other communities, find out whether Princeton landlords are going all the way in rent increases and, with a sigh, get back to work at a meeting scheduled for Thursday, November 10.

Wide Variety of Safety Hazards Reported at PHS

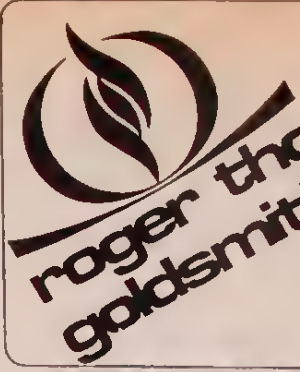

Safety hazards exist in the Princeton High School building in 18 categories, according to an October 17 report from the chief safety consultant for the Division of Field Services of the State Department of Education. The report follows what the consultant called "a cursory examination" of the building on October 5, and was sent to the county superintendent of schools as well as to Superintendent Paul Houston.

Highlights:

- The boys team locker room does not have adequate exits, has "a very low ceiling and no ventilation. Use of this space by pupils should be discontinued." The former storage area now called Classroom G-10 also should not be used by students.
- An exit corridor near the main gym is blocked and used for storage. It should be opened, or converted to a storage room.
- Stairs near the library are not enclosed and equipped with smoke screen doors, as required by law. Stairs near Room 155 do not end in an exterior exit, as required.
- Some doors open directly into stairs and some exit stairs have storage or closets under them, which is not allowed.
- Regarding fire, the removal of doors or walls along the corridor between the cafeteria and student lounge creates "a serious breach" in the exit. This is aggravated by combustible stuffed furniture in the lounge. Openings between the corridor and the auditorium are "a large area of concern".

- Acoustical tile in hall ceilings "appears to be" combustible.
- The area serving the wood, metal and automotive shops has only one exitway, and needs two more. The corridor gate near Room 126 makes a dead-end corridor, and should be removed.
- Converting the present dietician area into classroom space as proposed for remodeling, conflicts with exit and stairway requirements.
- Fluorescent fixtures should be installed; present incandescent ones do not give enough light, and consume more energy.
- Furniture and equipment—like the compressor near the auto shop—should be kept out of corridors.
- The room housing the main electrical service and equipment doesn't comply with fire regulations. It is a very warm room, which seems to show it needs better outside ventilation.
- Classroom exhaust should be carried out of the rooms by metal ducts. Corridors must not be used for exhaust ventilation.
- Interior doors from auditorium, gym and cafeteria aren't equipped with so-called "panic" hardware.

School Administrators Win Raise, Lose Sabbaticals in New Contract

A new administrators' contract, phasing out sabbaticals to end in 1980 and giving everyone a $1,460 raise, was scheduled for adoption by the school board Tuesday night.

The two-year agreement provides for an overall salary increase of five percent the first year, four percent the second year. New salaries, now in effect, are given below. Staff members not belonging to the Princeton Regional Administrators Association, but paid according to the PRAA scale, are identified by an asterisk.

- All elementary school principals: $31,450.
(Eugene Biringer, Community Park; Murray Cohen, Johnson Park; Lloyd Taylor, Littlebrook, Norma Gumbiner, Riverside; and Business Administrator Ronald Novak*.)
- Middle School Principal William Johnson: $33,450.
- High School Principal George Petrillo: $35,450.
- All assistant principals: $28,510.
(At the high school, Florence Burke, Alfred Seitz, Frank Soda and Norman Van Arsdalen; middle school, Philip Cobb school board secretary William Evans*. (Cafeteria head Barbara Hurley* classified as 10-month assistant principal: $23,760).
- Director of Student Services Charles Huchet: $31,450.

Dr. Huchet will go on half-year sabbatical in January. After that, only two more sabbaticals will be granted.

RATES TO DOUBLE?
Utility Asks "Adjustment."
A 100 percent increase in your utility bill? It's enough to blow the fuse of every householder.

Township Committee learned at last Wednesday's meeting—and presumably the information has been sent to the Borough as well—that Public Service made a mistake last year, and underestimated its fuel expenses.

Now it wants consumers to make up for it through an "adjustment" in the raw materials charge Public Service is allowed to make.

The new rate would be 10.36 cents for residential use, compared to the present 5.85 cents. The so-called "interruptable and off-peak" use, chiefly related to business, would jump from 4.72 cents to 9.33 cents.

"I would favor one of our tougher stands," said Mayor Josie Hall.

Referendum Dec. 13

Princeton voters will be asked to go to the polls on Tuesday, December 13 to decide whether Princeton High School should be remodeled.

The $4,366,000 bond issue will be voted on in a package; that is, voters won't be able to separate out various items—like the gym or the auditorium—for approval or rejection.

This will be the third time that remodeling of the 50-year-old building has been placed before the voters. A full-scale renovation for $6.25 million, was rejected in June, 1974. In October of that year, a two-part referendum totalling $6.1 million was also defeated.

Hearing Nov. 10. Public hearing will be Thursday, November 10, at 10 a.m. before the Board of Utility Commissioners at 101 Commerce Street, Newark.

Margaret Broadwater, who has done homework on utility rates in the past, promised to do the same. Committee will decide next week what action to take.

JOINT MEETING SET

By Borough, Township. Formation of a Borough-Township Environmental Commission--scheduled for January 1--the landmarks ordinance and a possible Planning Board move to the Valley Road building are on the agenda of a joint Borough Council-Township Committee meeting planned for this Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

Gordon Griffin, counsel to both governments, is expected to present his original draft of a landmarks ordinance. It is this draft that was revised by members of the Historic Sites Commission (not the Historical Society of Princeton, as originally reported), in ways which Mr. Griffin has criticized.

In another Borough-Township matter, Council heard last Thursday night from alarmed Borough property owners, Dr. and Mrs. (also Dr.) Rene Weber, who do not want the Snowden Lane Culvert enlarged from six to 20 feet.

Dr. Weber told Council she would lose usable land "to solve somebody else's problems." The entire character of her woodland property would be changed, she said.

Cyclist, 16, Raped Monday in Kingston; Suspect May Be Man Police Already Seek

A 16-year old bicyclist from South Brunswick Township was raped Monday morning shortly after 11 as she was riding on Ridge Road in Kingston near the railroad tracks.

The description of her assailant resembles that of a suspect who raped a 14-year old Princeton jogger last week on Elm Road. Borough Chief Michael Carnevale said Tuesday "we think it is very possible that it might be the same person and we are pursuing our investigation along those lines."

According to Det. Charles Fahrenholz of the South Brunswick police, the cyclist was heading toward Princeton and just before she reached the railroad tracks, a black male stepped out and asked her what time it was. He then dragged her 30 feet off the road and raped her.

The victim first went to her family physician in Princeton. She was then taken to the Princeton Medical Center, where she was treated and released.

She described her attacker as about six feet tall, heavy set, muscular with a medium style Afro. "It almost fits," said Det. Fahrenholz, referring to the Princeton suspect. He said a composite photo of the two descriptions was in the process of being drawn.

Topics of the Town

Borough and Mercer County have been planning Snowden Lane culvert enlargement, and Township residents have been concerned about downstream effects. Township officials suggested that, to forestall future flooding problems, the Borough enact flood-control legislation.

"We might want to look at it, if it would be helpful," said Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley. Regarding Snowden, he said he hoped to reach accord with the Township, then confer again with the County.

SCHOOL OBJECTIVES

System-wide. Nine objectives of the school board, as they relate to the way the board will evaluate its new superintendent, were discussed at the board's planning meeting last Tuesday. Superintendent Paul Houston will prepare specific ways to implement them.

Three objectives received five or more board votes and were, in order of priority: (1) assess the relationship of the high school organization to the goals of the school and the school system; (2) overhaul the evaluation of staff and (3) evaluate guidance throughout the system.

Others related to communications with the community; co-ordinating the approach to testing; examining staff development; co-ordinating science and social studies curriculums; examining Student Services and working out new approaches to budget development.

In other business, the board agreed that the future of the Valley Road building must hinge on discussions, scheduled to start this Wednesday, with architects and the high school administration. The board may need to schedule high school

ENTRY ATTEMPT FAILS
17-Year Old Juvenile Charged. A silent alarm tripped up a 17-year old Princeton juvenile last week who, police said, was trying to enter the Rusty Scupper Restaurant on Alexander Road.

Ptl. James Vandermark, assisted by Ptl. Dave Wilbur, responded to the alarm at 3:30 Thursday morning and discovered the juvenile still busily engaged in trying to pry open a door. He ran across the parking lot into the woods where he managed to elude the police for 10 to 15 minutes. He was later found in the swamp area nearby and taken to the Mercer County Youth House in Trenton.

Shoplifter Charged. Herbert E. Adams, 27, of Trenton, was charged with shoplifting Friday by Township police, after he allegedly stole four pair of men's jockey shorts valued at $12 from Bamberger's in the Princeton Shopping Center.

He was detected by a security officer at Bamberger's. Later released in $25 bail, Adams is scheduled to appear in Township court.

Faces Drug Charge. Paul A. Garner, 26, Province Line Road, Hopewell, has been charged by Ptl. Mario Musso of Township police with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana.

Garner was a passenger in a car stopped last week on Olden Lane by Ptl. Musso during a routine check. The officer while questioning the occupants allegedly noticed a small brown wooden pipe and detected an odor of marijuana.

Garner was arrested, searched and a cellophane bag containing green vegetation was allegedly found in his jacket pocket. He was released after processing, pending his appearance in court December 15.

DRIVEN HITS POLE
On Herrontown Road. Gordon Hoehle, 17, 240 Mount Lucas Road, received lacerations of the face after he lost control of his car late Monday night while rounding a curve on Herrontown Road. The small foreign car he was driving was totalled.

Police said he lost control on a loose gravel surface, causing his car to veer to the right where it struck a utility pole. The mishap took place near Poor Farm Road.

Intersection Collision. One of two drivers involved in a collision Thursday at Witherspoon Street and Valley Road sustained injuries.

Edward H. White, 76, Green Avenue, Belle Mead, was treated at Princeton Medical Center for contusions and abrasions of the head. Ptl. David Cromwell issued the other driver, Barbara Nielson, 36, 677 Cherry Valley Road, a summons for failing to yield after stopping at a stop sign.

TWO ARE CHARGED
In Campus Trespassing. Two Borough men - both 22 - have been charged with trespassing on the Princeton University campus.

David Jackson, 21 Birch Avenue, and Dane Black, 90 Birch, were arrested shortly after 3 Thursday morning by university proctors who had seen them enter Lourie-Love Hall twice. As they exited a second time and began walking toward 1942 Hall, they were stopped and questioned about their presence in a coed dorm at that time in the morning.

School Enrollment Down by 113

Princeton's public schools have 113 fewer pupils than predicted, official enrollment figures show. Figures are used by the school board as soon as they are available—September 30—for budget preparation. It was in October of last year, that the 3,150 estimate was made. Here are the actual, and projected, enrollments:

Mr. Black replied that he had gone to visit a student, whom he identified as Antonette Bailey, but she was asleep and he didn't want to waken her. In checking, proctors were unable to find anyone by that name at the university.

Both suspects were then arrested and taken to Township police headquarters for processing. They are scheduled to appear in court November 17.

Borough police report two more incidents of trespassing on the campus.

The university has signed complaints of trespassing against Frank Nicholas 2d, 18, Lawrenceville Road; Michael Skibitsky, 20, Pine Brae Drive, Skillman, and John Celentano, 18, of Ewing Township, after they were allegedly found by proctors in Lockhart Hall after 1 Tuesday morning. They were taken to police headquarters by Sgt. Thomas Procaccino and Ptl. Monica Sheehan.

Earlier in the week, the university signed a similar complaint against Francis Oswald, 64, of Trenton, who was allegedly trespassing near Clio Hall. Police said he had been issued previous warnings. All four are scheduled to appear in court Nov. 2.

LITVACK/KLEIN GOOD GOVERNMENT TAKES EXPERIENCE.... THEIR EXPERIENCE IS GOVERNMENT

Cathleen Rolston Litvack has spent ten years in service to Princeton. She is working hard to preserve open space and natural beauty, enhance recreational opportunities, and create an environment for everyone to enjoy.

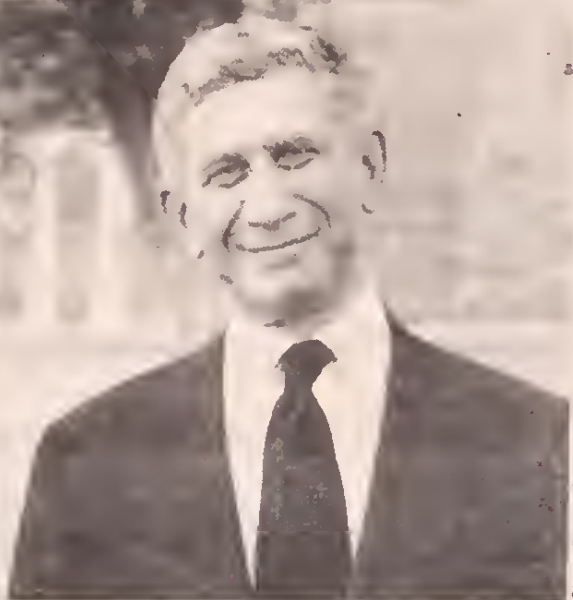

As Vice Chairman of the Joint Recreation Board and member of the Township Environmental Commission, Kate has played a role in planning and implementing the north side of Community Park, a unique recreational area now under construction.

Also through Kate's efforts, Princeton residents will soon be able to fish, canoe and picnic in a natural woodland setting near Lower Alexander Road, the new Turning Basin Park.

Kate is a former president of the Princeton Study Center and member of the Board of the Princeton University League. For nine years she has been a Democratic County committeewoman and is now Municipal Chairman of the Township County Committee. An active member of the Princeton Community Democratic Organization, she has also been its president.

Before moving to Princeton eleven years ago, Kate was at the Joint Center for Urban Studies in Cambridge. In Princeton she worked for the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation and the Gallup Poll. She is currently secretary to Mary Ellen Bowen, wife of Princeton University President, William G. Bowen.

Kate received her B.A. in Political Science from Wellesley College in 1964. She is married to James M. Litvack, Executive Director of the Council of Ivy Group Presidents and Lecturer in Economics at Princeton University. The Litvacks and their daughter, Dana, reside at 61 Laurel Road.

DAVID KLEIN

David Klein has spent almost thirty-five years in the service of the country. As a foreign service officer, he has held a number of posts which demanded a high order of management, administrative and financial expertise.

He is presently Executive Director of the American Council on Germany, a private, non-profit foundation. In this capacity, he organized last spring's American-German Conference at Princeton University. A number of Princeton residents participated in that Conference which included such notables as former German Chancellor Willy Brandt, and former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

As a foreign service officer, David served in Moscow under Ambassadors Kennen, Bohlen and Thompson. In the sixties he was a senior staff member of the National Security Council at the White House under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

As head of the American diplomatic mission in Berlin in the early seventies, David oversaw the management of the city government of Berlin. He was responsible for a budget of $10 million and directed a staff of one hundred and ninety people.

David Klein holds a B.A. from Brooklyn College and an M.A. from Columbia University. He has also studied at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration and has taught several courses in political science at the University of Maryland. He is a retired colonel in the U.S. Army Reserve and a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and the University Club.

David and his wife, the former Anne Cochran, and their five children reside at 6 Greenhouse Drive.

robbed late Friday night as he was closing the station. Police said that approximately $800 was stolen from the cash register.

According to police, the attendant had gone to secure the rest room doors. As he returned and rounded the corner of the main garage, he was struck on the head and fell to the ground. He was taken to Princeton Medical Center and treated for a laceration under the eye.

The investigation is continuing by police who have a partial description of one suspect and his car. Sgt. Thomas Procaccino, Ptl. Robert Mucciarelli and Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt responded to the initial call at 11:39 p.m.

TRENTON MAN JAILED

For Assault on Wife. A 40-year old Trenton resident, John H. Reed, is in Mercer County Jail in lieu of $25,000 bail after he allegedly assaulted his wife with a butcher's knife in the Princeton University Commons' kitchen, where she is employed.

The victim was taken for treatment to the Medical Center where three sutures were needed to close a laceration of her hand. Reed had been charged with trespassing by the University and with atrocious assault and battery and carrying a concealed weapon by Borough police.

Ptl. Victor Fasanella and Ptl. John Clark responded to a call at 8:23 Saturday evening from Princeton University security requesting aid. Police report that two managers at commons, the dining hall for undergraduate students, intervened in the assault and assisted in subduing Reed.

SIX ARE FINED

For Speeding. Six Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough traffic court for speeding.

They are Catherine Slighton, 80 Cleveland Lane; Susan Kutell, 5 Lake Shore Drive, Lawrenceville; Violet Wilkinson, 571 Lake Drive; Harriet Lynding, 24 Broadripple Drive, and Robert L. Knapp, Park Lane, all $15, and Betty Friedman, 226 Riverside Drive, $16. Ms. Slighton was also fined $10 for late inspection.

Betty Russinoff, 119 Heather Lane, was fined $25 for a stop sign violation and Michael

FUN AND FUNDS FOR DEMOCRATS: State Senate candidate Peter Bearse poses with Mercer County Freeholder Barbara Sigmund at a Bearse fund-raiser last Sunday.

Lawrence, 46 Park Place, paid $15 for overdue inspection.

In Township court last week, Judge Philip Carchman fined William O. Burdwood, 156 N. Harrison Street, $210 and revoked his license for 60 days for drunken driving. He was also ordered to attend the Princeton AA for three months.

Albert J. Bernard Jr., Route 27, Kingston, and Reginald McRea, B14 Mulberry Row, each lost his license for six months and was fined $60 for driving an uninsured car. Mr. McRea was also fined $15 and $10 court costs for careless driving but Judge Carchman suspended the fine.

Fined $25 each for careless driving were James G. Leech, 305 Prospect Avenue, and Mary M. Davis, 44-15 Hunters Glen, Plainsboro. Speeding cost Jeanne Greenberg, 99 Ridgeview Circle, $27, while Walter F. Gips Jr., 92 Brookstone Drive, paid $25, stop sign infraction.

In municipal court, Lucius Wilmerding, 9 Russell Road, was fined $25 each on two charges of allowing his dog to run loose and another $25 for failure to get a dog license.

THEFT REPORT

Battery, Windshield Stolen. A stolen car battery is not unusual; a Westminster Choir College student reported her $45 battery stolen Monday.

But a windshield? Mrs. Philip Kissam, 15 Newlin Road, told Township police that she had parked her small foreign car in her driveway Sunday evening and when she returned Monday morning, the windshield was missing.

tire from his car parked in the same lot at the same time.

Nicholas Leperi of Mercerville was only gone about five minutes but that was all the time a thief needed to enter his locked car in the Princeton Shopping Center lot Thursday and take an envelope containing two watches from the front seat. The watches were valued at $250.

Between 5:30 and 6:15 Thursday evening, a car parked in the Palmer Square lot across from the Post Office was broken into and a $100 brown flight jacket taken. The victim is a Plainsboro resident.

An East Windsor resident didn't lose anything, but his car parked in the Park Place lot was the target of vandals. Police said both the windshield and back window had been smashed, the radio ripped out and the upholstery torn.

$895 Typewriter Stolen. An electric typewriter valued at $895 was taken during the weekend from a second-floor office at the 20 Nassau building — the door had been pried open — and a 19-year-old student listed a cassette deck and eight blank tapes stolen from her unlocked room in Joline Hall on the university campus. Their combined value: $152.

Ahem! Borough Finds Out - 50 Years Later - Temporary 'No Parking' Signs Aren't Legal

There are more red faces in Borough Hall this week than traffic tickets in an officer's notebook.

For half a century, the Borough has been putting temporary "No Parking" signs on key streets to keep traffic flowing, on crowded football Saturdays.

The signs are not legal. There is not now, and never has been, an ordinance authorizing them.

Magistrate Philip Carchman on Monday tore up (figuratively) three tickets issued under the - uh, under what everybody thought was the law.

Defendants were three students: Arthur Silverberg, Morton Sellers and Jonathan Snimshoni. Gleeefully, Mr. Silverberg brought along to court what Judge Carchman later described as "about 15 pounds of law books." He presented his case. Judge Carchman turned to prosecutor Edward Schmeirer and asked if there were a Borough ordinance.

Mr. Schmeirer did some on-the-spot research and said no.

Meanwhile, Mr. Silverberg, elated with his success, continued with his case. But Judge Carchman stopped him. There is a cardinal rule in court, the magistrate reminded Mr. Silverberg: keep your mouth shut when you're ahead.

Case dismissed.

A Cleveland resident visiting the campus left two suitcases filled with clothing Sunday on a landing at Campbell Hall. Both were taken. One also contained $100 in cash. His total loss was approximately $400.

Two duffel bags filled with clothing valued at $140 were taken Thursday from a hallway in Brown Hall. Same day, a Princeton University professor told police that a cabinet containing assorted tools valued at approximately $400 had been stolen from a room in Frick Laboratory. There was no forced entry.

BESS FOR COLLECTOR
In Borough. Helen M. Bess, 7:30. Topics to be covered 168 John Street, is the bi-partisan choice for Borough tax collector, it was announced this week.

She was the combined choice of Borough Democratic and Republican municipal committees to fill the vacancy created when the candidate chosen in the primaries, moved out of town.

TWO COURSES PLANNED
At YWCA. As a follow-up to "A Day For Women - Group Management Techniques," a full day series of workshops held last Saturday at the YWCA, two mini-courses have been planned.

Mary Ann Losi, instructor in Business Administration, will teach a four session course on supervisory skills, beginning Wednesday, November 2 at 7:30. Topics to be covered include motivation and communication techniques, time management, decision-making skills, and delegation of responsibility. The fee is $10.

An in-depth exploration of leadership skills and steps in creative problem-solving will be the focus of a two session workshop led by Marjorie Smith, trainer in Group Dynamics. Management techniques will be held on Friday, November 4 and 11 from 9:30 - 11. The fee for this workshop is $5.

To register, call Anne O'Brien at the YWCA, 924-4825 ext. 22 by Monday.

McPHEE TO SPEAK

At Library. "A Conversation with John McPhee" will be next in the writers talking series at the Public Library on Thursday evening, November 3, at 8.

Mr. McPhee will discuss the aims and techniques in writing non-fiction, with special attention to subjects raised by the audience. Questions to be answered or topics of special interest to any individual may be given to the library staff in advance.

Mr. McPhee, a life-long resident of Princeton, is a frequent contributor to The New Yorker and the author of more than a dozen books, including "The Survival of the Bark Canoe," "The Curve of Binding Energy" and "Pieces of the Frame."

The rent leveling ordinance will expire December 1. Will the needs of landlords and tenants be frustrated by inaction?

Salvation for the dinky is at hand. Will these plans be derailed by prolonged discussion?

A plan for parking has been proposed. Will it be talked about for another 3 years?

PAINT YOUR WINDOW?

For Hallowe'en. The paint came from Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs, co-ordination came from Herb Mihan for the Princeton Borough Merchants Association, but....

The pictures are strictly from the kids. Grades five through eight, some of the painters too short to reach a brush to the tip of a witch's hat, fanned out all along Nassau last week decorating store windows with original paintings in the spirit of the season. About 40 windows were turned, so to speak, into canvases for the Big Hallowe'en Art Show.

Since it isn't a contest, there are no losers. Each young painter will get a certificate of participation from the Chamber of Commerce, and if it's orange and black like last year's, the colors this time are not for Princeton University, but for Hallowe'en.

Participating schools: John Witherspoon School, Princeton Day School, The Hun School, Princeton Boychoir School and Stuart Country Day.

HICKEY RESIGNS POST

As Head of Food Services, William J. Hickey has resigned as director of food services at Princeton University less than two years since he assumed the position. Mr. Hickey said that, after considerable reflection and discussions with others, he had concluded that the position at Princeton had not lived up to his expectations, and that he thought it was in his best interests to pursue his career elsewhere.

John P. Moran, vice president for facilities, accepted Mr. Hickey's resignation and said, "Over the course of the past year, Mr. Hickey has made important improvements in food services at Princeton. Of special note is the $500,000 renovation of the undergraduate dining commons which was planned and developed under Mr. Hickey's direction last year. The project preserved the architectural beauty of the gothic dining halls while meeting contemporary standards for food services."

John Feldkamp, general manager of services, will assume operational control of the department and will coordinate the search for a replacement.

New Jersey Poll Shows Gov. Byrne Being Hurt By Lack of Credibility in Campaign Promises

As interest in the gubernatorial campaign picks up, New Jerseyans continue to give Republican challenger Raymond Bateman a clear edge on several pocketbook issues and on credibility of campaign promises, according to the latest Eagleton Poll.

The Poll also finds that:

- Bateman is seen as the candidate most likely to do what the state's registered voters want done on the issues they feel are most important;
- The candidates are rated evenly on who would keep the state government free from corruption and who would do a better job of protecting the environment.

The Poll reports that almost half the state's registered voters—47 percent—rate the Republican as better able than Byrne to "help the state's economy to grow," while only 32 percent choose Byrne. Bateman's margin over the Governor is virtually unchanged from July, when the voters favored Bateman, 45 percent to 31 percent. The number of voters undecided on the question declined from 21 percent in July to 16 percent in September.

Partisan differences are strongly evident. Democrats favor Byrne over Bateman on economic growth, 49 percent to 32 percent, while Republicans overwhelmingly favor Bateman, 75 percent to 10 percent. Independents, a pivotal group in this election, choose Bateman 50 percent to 26 percent over the Democrat.

GOP for ECONOMY. Bateman is also more frequently identified than Byrne as the candidate who will "keep state spending down," by a large 50 to 22 percent margin. Even Democrats mention Bateman over Byrne, 40 percent to 30 percent.

The survey also finds voters identify Bateman more often than Byrne, 37 percent to 25 percent, as the candidate who "would be more likely to do what you want done" about the issue each voter rated as "most important." Almost one-in-four voters—24 percent—sees no difference between the candidates on the issues they deemed as most important.

New Jersey registered voters also continue to rate Bateman's campaign pledges more credible than Byrne's. When asked, "How believable do you think Raymond Bateman's campaign pledges are," 12 percent say "very believable," 55 percent say "somewhat believable," while 20 percent say his promises are "not believable."

Rating the Governor's credibility, 11 percent say his promises are "very believable," 48 percent say "somewhat," while one-third—33 percent—say his promises are "not believable." Byrne's rating is virtually unchanged since July. Bateman's credibility rating is down slightly from July, when 12 percent rated his promises "very believable," 55 percent said "somewhat," and 13 percent, "not believable."

Even on Two Counts. The candidates are rated almost evenly on environmental protection and keeping government honest. When voters are asked which candidate will "do a better job cleaning up and protecting the environment," 34 percent choose Byrne, while 33 percent choose Bateman. When asked which candidate will "do a better job of keeping the government free from corruption," 32 percent mention Byrne, while 31 percent say Bateman. These figures are virtually unchanged from July.

Voters also split almost evenly on reducing criminal penalties for marijuana—49 percent favor reduced penalties, while 45 percent are opposed. Bateman supporters favor reduced penalties by a thin 49 percent to 45 percent margin, while Byrne supporters favor reduced penalties by a wider 52 percent to 44 percent margin.

The governor said he would sign a bill reducing criminal penalties for marijuana if the state legislature passed it. Bateman would oppose the measure. However, most voters do not know where either candidate stands on the issue. Fifty-two percent cannot identify Byrne's stance, 33 percent correctly identify his position favoring the measure, while 15 percent identify the Governor's position incorrectly as opposing the bill. Bateman's position is even less known. Sixty-eight percent cannot identify any position for Bateman, 15 percent correctly identify the Republican's position as opposing the legislation, while 17 percent say he would support the bill.

Assessing the findings, Poll analyst Mark Schulman commented, "The survey finds Bateman thus far withstanding the test of time and somewhat increased voter familiarity — voters remain generally positive toward the Republican even as his image sharpens. In July, many voters' positive attitudes toward the Republican often seemed to result more from a negative evaluation of Byrne than from familiarity with Bateman. Most voters couldn't even recall his name in July, let alone rate him knowledgeably."

Numerous Issues at Stake. Schulman also noted that the present Gubernatorial campaign is much more issue-orientated than in 1973. "Voters are much more knowledgeable and opinionated on candidates' issue positions this year. In 1973, by contrast, Eagleton surveys found issues playing only a very limited role. Voters saw few issue differences between the candidates at that time."

"Both Byrne and Sandman were largely unknown statewide. Byrne's decisive edge in 1973 was on the issue of restoring honesty to a scandal-ridden state government—an issue which he no longer dominates in 1977."

GARBAGE IS NOT A DIRTY WORD to NELSON van den BLINK and LEONA MEDVIN!

They initiated the twice-weekly "everything" collection.

You can now put out on your curb whatever one man can lift.

In addition to normal trash in cans, you can dispose of yard debris, the contents of your attic or basement — not just twice a year — but twice weekly.

Just one example of how these conscientious, hard-working Democratic Borough Councilwomen are working for you.

van den Blink and Medvin have also:

- Kept tax rates stable.
- Provided more permit parking for residents and businesses.
- Encouraged senior citizen housing downtown.
- Worked with Mercer County to provide Loop Bus Service.
- Backed the Quarry Park acquisition with federal and state funds.

38th In N.Y. Marathon

Eamon Downey, who coaches cross country and teaches history at Princeton Day School, placed 38th out of a field of some 4,800 runners in the second New York Marathon Sunday. His time was 2 hours and 27 minutes.

It was Mr. Downey's first attempt at a full-length marathon, a distance of slightly over 26 miles. In the first Princeton Half-Marathon of 13 miles, which was run here last month, at the end of September and which he helped organize, he was edged out of first place by a Camden area school teacher. However, he placed first last June in a five-mile Run-for-Fun in Pennington.

WINNERS NAMED

In Stuart Contest. Winners of the book mark contest held in conjunction with the new book sale at Stuart Country Day School were Jennifer Murphy, grade 6, and Christine Nalbene, grade 3.

The contest was judged by Sister Cooper, Ruth Pincoffs and Patricia Vena, all teachers at Stuart. The Book Sale will be held October 31 through November 4, from 8 to 4 and open to all who wish to visit.

Elizabeth Starr Hill of Princeton will visit the lower school Wednesday, November 2, to autograph her newest book, "Ever After Island," a mystery that combines a boy and girl with make believe characters.

ENERGY IS TOPIC

Of Tuesday Meeting. The Association of New Jersey Environmental Commissions will hold a meeting Tuesday at 7:30 in Township Hall. It is open to the public.

The speaker will be William Beren, of the New Jersey Department of Energy. His topic will be "Local Leadership in Energy Conservation."

Princeton Township has, folded away in the municipal sugar-bowl, $49,319.74 in interest, earned through September 30 of this year. The sum compares to $14,334 earned during the same nine-month period last year.

The investments are the work of Olive Hance, better known to Township residents as the tax collector. But she's the tax investor, too, as assistant treasurer of the municipality, and she ferrets out the best deal she can from competing banks in the Princeton community. The instruments are certificates of deposit—for 30 days or more—and "repos," or repurchase agreements, for periods shorter than 30 days.

"Last winter, we were getting rates only in the four percent area," she reports, "but lately we've been getting 5.9 on certificates of deposit, and I'm expecting maybe we can get 6.0 in November."

Like all municipalities, the Township is allowed by law to invest only in government securities. It can't play the market.

"When taxes come in, we're rich and we salt it away," she says. November 1 is the deadline for property taxes, but the $800,000 in county taxes doesn't have to be paid for 10 days. She can invest the $800,000 in "repos" and earn $1,466.67 for the Township in just 11 days.

"I have to keep working capital, too," she points out, "to meet payments on bonds, the school tax, our share of library costs."

Why is this year's haul bigger? Because there is a $400,000 surplus, compared to the $177,000 surplus of a year ago. The Township kept a surplus in case Seward Johnson appeals successfully the taxes levied against his large Lawrenceville Road estate. The municipality also fears the impact of the new sewer plant in 1978.

Besides, as every taxpayer knows, there are just more tax dollars to work with.

IT'S NEW To Us

ORIENTAL TREND
For Holiday Tables. The Oriental influence is apparent as you pause at the Cummins Shop. The windows display vases, bowls, trays in Oriental designs.

Inside the store, more trays, ice buckets, desk accessories, dinnerware. Increasingly popular, Oriental designs are the perfect accent for today's home furnishings in earth tones and neutrals.

Planning a Party. At the Cummins Shop, the hostess will find many new things to bring change and excitement to home entertaining. She can begin with a ginger jar lamp in blue or rust $45; consider a bowl for a decorative touch. Choose a white bowl with blue butterflies, $18.50 with stand, a Shima Marco bowl by Spode $95, or a shallow lacquered bowl $9.75.

Vases add distinction to a room. At Cummins, the largest, blue and white, and reminiscent of colonial garnitures, is $136, a smaller blue and white, $23, and a cylindrical vase $11.50.

Small round porcelain boxes in 3 tiers, have a predominantly blue pattern, add charm to a coffee or end table $9 and $15. A plant in a cache pot of Oriental design will add a live, green touch $22.50 with saucer.

WHO'S THE NEW GIRL? At the Cummins Shop, it's Dabbe Harris (left) a senior at Princeton High, who works part-time as a salesperson. Hertha Petrone is the girl with the smiling face, familiar to Cummins patrons, who also does sales work and assists with the buying and displays.

The Cocktail Hour. Square lacquered boxes with lids, in rust and black, have four compartments and would make an unusual server for hors d'oeuvres, $20.75, $22.75.

Imari design fabric laminated to plastic makes serving trays $11, $20, and an ice bucket, $27. Glasses with the same design, set of 6, $16.50.

Dinner Is Served. The table is set with dinner plates in an Oriental design, either Wedgewood's "Chinese Tigers" (green) $26 each, Spode's "Indian Tree" (rust) $16.50 each or Royal Doulton's "Tonkin" (soft green) $8.50 each. Place mats of quilted Oriental design fabric, and matching or contrasting napkins complement them. Waterford candlesticks, $80.50 pair hold Lennox candles. Relax, they are long-burning and don't drip.

The centerpiece is fresh fruit (which could also be dessert) heaped on a lacquered tray or in a shallow bowl. Salad is served from a lacquered salad bowl, which has four individual bowls that match. The casserole of gold and white comes proudly to the table, whether it's souffle size, open au gratin or a deep 3 1/2 quarts, $6 - $25.95.

Wine is served in Waterford stemware $17.50 each. Dessert plates are either an Imari design, $4 each or white plates with a rust and green border around a green dragon, 4-$18, and matching demi-tasse 4-$30. Dinner was a success, the exclamations about the table appointments kept conversation flowing.

The hostess will also find desk accessories from Caspari in the Oriental mode. There are note pads for making lists, $8.75, address books $10, bridge scorers, photograph holders $8.75. All have covers which are reproductions of Japanese paintings. Waste baskets, too, carry the Oriental motif, $9 - $16.

Gift Choices. All the things just mentioned would make great hostess or Christmas gifts. But there are many other choices, too. Oven to Tableware by Royal Worcester, decorated with fruit, is a best seller, $22.50 - $49.50. Primavera dishes with their bright, spring-like flowers are favorites. Silver-plated hollow-ware and trays make good gifts for traditionalists.

For pewter-fanciers, Cummins has both polished pewter and pewter with a dull finish. And if you like pewter, you'll appreciate the Armetale pieces, which have the warmth and patina of fine pewter, and go from oven to table. $3.50 for a small porringer; $32 for a covered casserole.

The much-desired Christmas Tree dinnerware from Spode is now in stock. Dinner plate, teacup and saucer, boxed is $19.50. Miniature bone-china bouquets stay pretty all year $6.50. Just arrived, a crystal disk, free-swinging from a chrome rack, is etched with words, birds, sports, even a child with doll, $37.50.

Located at 98 Nassau Street, the Cummins Shop is open from 9-5, Monday through Friday; 10-4 Saturday. (Closed Sunday)

GREENHOUSE LEADS WAY
To Holiday Excitement. Patrons of Nassau Inn were delightfully surprised by the dramatic greening of the Coach Room, while they were on vacation, but it is just the start of exciting changes and activities that will continue to keep interest in the Inn at its peak. Mr. Thomas Root, Manager of Nassau Inn, and also President of Palmer Square, Inc., said "You can't live on yesterday"; a philosophy we all could adopt.

The creative, imaginative woman who transformed The Coach Room into The Greenhouse is Mrs. Betty James, decorator, A.S.I.D., of New Hope. The Coach Room, with its expanse of glass on three sides, was a natural habitat for the luxuriant hanging baskets of ferns, spider plants, Swedish ivy, which hang along the edges of the room and between the booths. Potted yellow chrysanthemums in baskets rest on the dividers between the booths, giving them a screen of greenery.

To complete the garden room atmosphere, Mrs. James replaced the center booths with comfortable bentwood and cane chairs and small, square butcher-block tables. The booths along the windows were reupholstered in a soft green and their solid oak tables given a natural finish. Lamps overhead were shaded with wicker. A grass colored carpet complemented the natural effect.

Mrs. James found real bamboo, which she used with cane laminated to plywood to design the handsome cabinets around the room. Those used for serving have copper-lined, recessed tops and drawers, custom-built by Nassau Inn's own carpenters.

Disappointed with the color choice in institutional linens and uniforms, Mrs. James had place mats and tablecloths especially made from a yellow polyester and linen fabric. Also lime green napkins, place mats and waitresses uniforms. A green floral print was made into aprons for the waitresses, and wraparound skirts, long for evening, short for daytime, for the hostesses.

Mrs. James has really thought of everything, and the nicest surprise of all is the seasonal changes that will take place in The Greenhouse. At Christmas, the yellow chrysanthemums, place mats and table cloths will be replaced with poinsettias and holly-printed mats and red napkins. And in the spring, another refreshing change - solid pink napkins and a pink, green and white floral print, with pink begonias filling the planters.

The Breakfast Buffet, just two weeks old, is already a resounding success - more informal and relaxing than the traditional Sunday dinner. The substantial and well-chosen menu is offered from 11-3 on Sundays in the main dining room and the Tap Room at $6.50 per person.

Three enthusiastic and innovative cooks are Robbin Derry, a Dartmouth graduate, Betsy Lefens, from Montgomery, who plans to go to culinary school, and Beverly Canzater, a Princeton University graduate. They bake the delicious, home-made pastries, muffins, carrot cake, zucchini cake and other desserts, make the tea sandwiches and pinch-hit anywhere in the kitchen.

People who come from out of town for the Weekenders Special - and those who live in the area - can start the weekend with the traditional Friday Night Buffet, dance to live music in the Tap Room on Friday and Saturday nights and end with the Sunday Breakfast Buffet.

Mrs. Sejnosi-Matusak

There will be a Fall Festival Day this Saturday (See advertisement, page 17 and the month of November, leading up to Christmas Day will be filled with seminars, demonstrations, entertainments you won't want to miss.

ELECT THE LEGISLATIVE TEAM THAT WILL GET THE JOB DONE

FORAN • MEREDITH • WEIDEL Senate Assembly Assembly

The team of Walter Foran and Karl Weidel has worked hard for you in the Assembly for eight years. Now the prospects for getting the tough jobs done look even better with Walt Foran moving to the Senate and Regina Meredith joining Karl Weidel in the Assembly.

HERE ARE THE JOBS THEY WANT TO GET DONE: JOBS AND THE ECONOMY

We must stimulate the economy and put people back to work. We need a new attitude by state government that will attract and keep business and industry in New Jersey and create thousands of new jobs. We favor tax abatements and incentives to encourage plant expansion.

ENERGY AND THE ENVIRONMENT

We must carefully strike a balance between economic and environmental needs. We need to update solid waste services, develop programs to preserve farmland and Green Acres, keep our rivers and shores clean and stop ocean dumping. We need an energy master plan for realistic off-shore exploration and development of solar energy.

GOVERNMENT BUREAUCRACY

It is time that the cost of state government be held down, that we put a stop to waste and duplication, that there be tighter controls on state spending. We are committed to property tax relief through such programs as rural aid and in lieu tax payments to municipalities. We need "legislative oversight" to be sure state departments are carrying out the intent of programs enacted by the Legislature.

HOME RULE AND LOCAL CONTROL

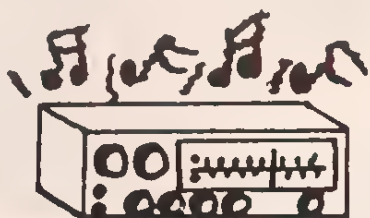

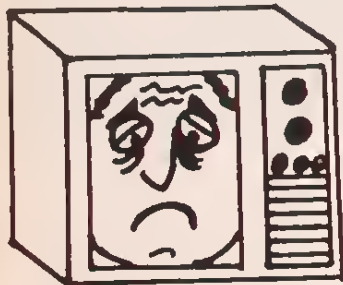

We are dedicated to the principle that government closest to the people is best for deciding matters of local concern. We are opposed to the proposed alignment of Interstate 95 because of what it will do to the area. We will continue to fight for the dualization of Route 31 for the safety of the people who live nearby or travel that highway. We favor retaining local control of such matters as zoning and land use.

The recordings are sent on loan and without charge to the work in preparing the books for reading, recording the books on tape, making the raised line drawings for the illustrations, checking tapes for errors and carrying out many of the administrative activities in running the schools. Titles recorded last year by the Princeton Unit included works on data processing, organic medicinal and pharmaceutical chemistry, elementary French, earth science, ethical issues in management and law books.

The Princeton Unit is one of 29 throughout the nation and the chairman of the board is the Princeton author Peter Putnam, who is himself blind. The Unit's main support comes from a small but growing army of about 750 donors whose gifts generally don't exceed $100 and are sometimes as modest as $1. The year after year gift of $5 is as encouraging as even larger gifts, says Mr. Ross.

Another way to contribute is through time and work. Volunteers come not only from the Borough and Township but also from as far away as Pennsylvania and the Jersey Coast. However, many requests by blind students must be turned down because of lack of space and equipment.

Recording for the Blind hopes that the community will help close that gap. Contributions which are tax deductible, may be sent to the office at 100 Stockton Street, where additional volunteers are also welcome.

United Fund Drive at 25% Mark Number of Contributors Lower

The Princeton Area United Fund-Red Cross Campaign has reached 25 percent of its goal in the first 20 days of the 1977 drive.

There were, however, fewer contributions than expected in the past week, James Stewart, 1977 United Fund chairman, said. "I look forward to contributions from some of the area's major employee groups to boost our progress," he added.

The fund has received pledges totalling $194,000. The goal of the two-and-a-half month campaign is $769,887, the highest in the fund's 39 year history.

Monies raised in the United Fund-Red Cross campaign help support health, welfare and recreational services in Cranbury, East Windsor, Griggstown, Hightstown, Kingston, Montgomery, Plainsboro, Rocky Hill, West Windsor, and adjacent areas of Hopewell, Lawrence and South Brunswick Townships. Last Year over 35,000 people in these communities were served.

Atlas Corp. to Be Based Here, Opening Principal Office Monday at 353 Nassau

Atlas Corp., a major New York stock exchange firm, will move its principal office into its new quarters at 353 Nassau Street over the weekend and be ready for business on Monday. Edward B. Farley Jr., of 188 Parkside Drive is chairman of the board and president of the company.

The move represents Atlas' second attempt to transfer its home office from New York City to Princeton. Its first application to the Township Zoning Board for a use variance on the Stony Brook school owned by the Board of Education on Stockton Street was denied. The corporation then bought the three-story brick building belonging to John T. Henderson last winter.

According to Mr. Farley, 15 people are involved in the relocation. Through six different divisions, the corporation is involved in natural resources, manufacturing and services. In the area of

In the realm of services, the corporation provides support to government as well as industrial activities. On Kwajalein Island, for instance, one of the Marshall Islands in the Pacific, an Atlas Corp. subsidiary "runs the town," hiring the doctors, dentists, rabbis, movie projectionists and others who offer "life support" for those who are engaged in anti-missile research and development on the island.

Atlas also has manufacturing plants in which such diverse products as high-pressure, high-temperature hoses for aircraft, and prestressed, pre-cast concrete systems and the soles of heels of shoes are turned out. The corporation has some 5,000 employees and more than 80,000 stockholders.

The Peugeot 604 gives you the engineering of a Mercedes-Benz, the handling of a BMW, the elegance of a Jaguar, and a level of comfort superior to all of them.

Like its illustrious competition, the Peugeot 604 has a responsive six-cylinder engine (ours is a V-6), fully independent suspension, power assisted steering (ours is rack and pinion), four-wheel power disc brakes, air conditioning, power windows, distinguished styling, and meticulous attention to detail.

But unlike all of them, the Peugeot 604 has been engineered for a superior level of comfort. With oversized shock absorbers patented by Peugeot. With large coil springs and long vertical wheel travel to keep the car from practically ever bottoming out. With a "floating" differential and a steel torque tube enclosing the drive shaft to reduce noise and vibration — a major source of passenger fatigue. And with seats that are actually tuned to the suspension system.

But comfort isn't the only thing separating the 604 from its competition. There's also the price, which starts at around $11,000 P.O.E.* And that may be its most comforting feature of all.

No one builds cars the way Peugeot builds cars.

INCREASE EXPECTED

In Mathematica Earnings. Mathematica, Inc., technical consulting, policy research, computer software and system design firm based here, expects to report record first quarter revenues, but lower earnings for the quarter ended September 30. Dr. Tibor Fabian, president, told securities analysts in Philadelphia this week that "per share earnings for the first quarter should be about 15 cents against 20 cents earned in last year's first quarter, on record first-quarter revenues which will top $5.4 million, compared with $5.1 million a year earlier."

Dr. Fabian noted, however, that "Mathematica expects once again earnings and revenues for the fiscal year to exceed those of the previous years." For the year ended June 30, 1977 the company reported earnings of $688,000 or 98 cents per share on revenues of $22.7 million.

Dr. Fabian attributed the anticipated first-quarter earnings decline to "an unusual amount of proposal writing and lower proportion of time than planned at a subsidiary. The company expects that these factors will be offset by new projects and increased billable time in later quarters."

The Mathematica chief executive pointed out that the company opened the current business year with a backlog

10 EASY WAYS TO MAKE HOMES WARMER AND FUEL BILLS LOWER

1. Weatherstrip all doors and windows. A small amount of cold air can cause discomfort even if the inside temperature is 75 degrees.
2. On sunny days, though cold, open all window drapes and blinds that face the sun to facilitate solar energy collection, thus reducing the need for furnace heat partly or altogether.
3. Exhaust fans used in cold weather extract warm air you pay for dearly and replace it with cold air.
4. Radiators or registers in rooms not actively used should be shut off, and the doors closed. Also, thermostats should be lowered to 50 degrees when your house is vacant during the day. It makes little sense to pay a lot of money for heat when no one is there.
5. Make certain your fireplace damper is closed, and if necessary, sealed with cardboard and tape. When you use the fireplace, open the nearest window a bit so that outside air, rather than heated air, will be drawn into the flue.

6. Close drapes, curtains, blinds and shutters at night. If your house is reasonably well insulated, you probably lose as much or more energy through windows than through the entire remainder of the house. Layers of air trapped among various window coverings will provide an insulating barrier.
7. Replace washers in any leaky hot water faucets. You paid too much money to let the hot water to let it run down the drain. Also, fill your basin when washing. Don't let hot water run with the drain plug open. And install a pressure reducer on your shower head, or run the shower at low pressure.
8. Defrost foods in the refrigerator, not at room temperature, and let left-overs reach room temperatures before storing them in the refrigerator or freezer. The reason for both is to preserve room heat.
9. If your clothes dryer is in a room of its own (laundry, utility, etc.), close the door and open the window a crack. That way, you will be drawing dry, cold outside air through the dryer and back outside, not your heated air. Also, operate this appliance during the night when thermostat is set at 50.
10. Operate your dishwasher a half-hour before retiring, then open the washer door and pull the racks out, thus adding humidity to the house and helping cut down on electricity.

PRHS Personalities

Nancianna Parrella, vocal teacher, director, and accompanist at PRHS, will be a part of Bach Festival Week at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Central Park West at 65th Street, New York City, where she is assistant to the director of music. At tonight's eight o'clock concert she will conduct. As part of a continuing winter series entitled "Evenings with Johann S. Bach", Mrs. Parrella will be featured as organist and harpsichordist in several programs.

David Bellemore is working for PRS in a dual capacity this year. During the morning he's a science teacher at PHS, gowned in a labcoat and demonstrating dissecting techniques for budding biologists. Afternoons find him at Valley Road building as an Administrative Intern from the Columbia University program. His work there gives him a variety of experiences as he tackles different administrative assignments. At day's end he often heads for New York to attend workshops and compare his "fieldwork" with others who are interning in similar programs elsewhere.

THE enrollment figures for PRHS are now official: there are 1115 students working their way through a wide variety of course offerings. The by-class enrollment ranges from a low of 266 Seniors to a high of 286 Sophomores.

Four programs outside the central high school campus involve 68 students in other studies. Currently there are 15 in Cooperative Office Education (secretaries, office clerks, cashiers, clerk-typists, file clerks, accounting clerks); 22 in Cooperative Industrial Education (mechanic's helpers, waiters, maintenance workers, sales clerks, stock clerks, mail room clerks); 15 enrolled at Mercer County Vocational School (cosmetology, auto mechanics, auto body, electrical, graphics, building construction, plumbing and heating); 12 taking Princeton University courses (Arabic, French, history, math, religion, sociology) and one studying architecture at PDS.

SCHOOL lunches at PHS were rated excellent in a survey conducted by The Trentonian in recent weeks. "The flavor, preparation and wide variety of foods offered at Princeton High gave that school a perfect score in an 11 point rating system devised by The Trentonian to evaluate school lunches. Food from thirteen school districts and four counties was tested to find the best and worst - of institutional cooking. "From excellent to inedible" described the range of cafeteria foods sampled, according to The Trentonian.

THE Riverside new parents' tea was held on Monday, October 17 at the school. The wet weather failed to dampen the attendance or the spirit of the group. Colorful maps pinpointed the wealth of background at Riverside. The children attending classes here represent 27 of the countries of the world and 27 states of our own country as well. Some members of the staff are "originals" who remember when the cornerstone was laid with the silver trowel which the school still proudly possesses. The afternoon was highlighted by the introduction of Mrs. Alice Packard, first principal of Riverside school, who graciously shared some memories of the schools' early days. Her interest and warmth were much appreciated by the new and old parents and teachers who attended.

TRAVEL down Nassau Street and Witherspoon; check Chambers and Hulfish streets, then take a swing through Palmer Square for a seasonal, regional art show. The pictures aren't for sale - just for pleasure. John Witherspoon students were involved in the planning and paintings of central business district windows for Halloween. Sketches and plans were submitted to Mr. Levitt, JW art teacher, who assigned window locations - in lieu of easels. Weather forced some unplanned delays since rain and wind and swirling leaves are not compatible with outdoor artistry; however, the witches, goblins, black cats and pumpkins are now in place for a brilliant Halloween.

THE personnel office is on its way to maintaining a pool of applicants to be used on an "as needed" basis. If you're interested in substituting as a teacher, aide or in the office, please call Lynda Hyman at 924-8478.

"An Inflammatory Outburst."

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is a copy of the letter I have written to Dr. Stanley E. Rosenberg in reply to his letter in your issue of October 19:

It distresses me greatly that you saw fit to base your recent inflammatory outburst at me and the Township Committee regarding Medical Center Parking on a newspaper article that you took completely at face value. Had you attended the meeting, I think you would have come away with accurate knowledge of the problems faced by the Township Committee in reaching their decision.

I feel I must set the record straight: the article, although not basically inaccurate, harbors two faults. (1) In an editorializing manner it makes me sound angry with the Medical Center when in fact my principal feeling that evening was one of regret that we couldn't do more to solve this difficult problem, and (2) The article does not report the facts and reasoning behind Committee's decision, and it does lump together quotes made at different times during the evening.

As you must know, governmental bodies often have to reach decisions by trying to judiciously weigh one problem against another. There were several factors which were not brought out in the article: (1) The Community Pool Parking Lot Ordinance. This is a law that prohibits parking to anyone other than pool users during the swimming season and is "enforceable." (2) Tiger Garage lot: after the Parcel purchase is complete Township will need the remaining space so our heavy equipment can get in and out to load sand and salt when it snows. (3) Over the years, many residents in the area have been inconvenienced by and have complained about over-flow parking from the Medical Center. I hope we do not have to limit parking on nearby residential streets, but these people do have rights too.

But what distressed me most, Dr. Rosenberg, were the other errors on which your own attack was based. Nowhere did you mention that the Township did agree to allot the Medical Center 132 of the 240 requested spaces. Instead, you imply that we turned them down flat.

Even worse, you state that by denying these spaces the Township will cause suffering to the "old and the sick" and "those in need of medical attention" who will have to get to a "facility that will become impossible to park near." Perhaps, you should have checked the FACTS. These parking spaces were requested by the Medical Center FOR EMPLOYEE PARKING ONLY. Township Committee has assured that others would have space in the Franklin St. lot.

An apology to the Township Committee is called for.

League Backs Income Tax.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Because of the extensive debate over the income tax in the present election campaign, and in view of some releases to other papers by other sections of the League of Women Voters, the Princeton Area League feels that it should clarify its position on this issue.

For the past 25 years the League of Women Voters of New Jersey has worked for a graduated personal income tax, because repeated studies have shown that this tax represents the fairest way to pay for all the services needed by residents of N.J. Historically, New Jersey's per capita state taxes have been among the lowest in the country, while personal income per capita in N.J. is among the highest in the nation. The feeling of over-taxation is due to our heavy reliance on the regressive property tax.

The League believes a graduated personal income tax would: 1) reduce the regressive nature of the present N.J. tax structure, distributing the tax burden more equitably to all our citizens, based on ability to pay; 2) provide a more balanced tax structure which would be more capable of providing adequate revenues to meet future needs; and 3) reduce the overreliance on the property tax, which has had serious effects on housing, land use, zoning, and transportation as well as education.

The present income tax yields approximately $1 billion. A little over half of this is used to fund the constitutional mandate for a "Thorough and Efficient" education. The rest has been used for property tax relief.

The League would like to see a more graduated income tax. Until that is achieved, however, the present income tax should be retained because it provides enough revenue to help control rising property taxes and to keep the schools open.

There are very, very few other choices open to the Legislature: 1) a statewide property tax levy of 1.15 - 1.25 per $100 valuation, 2) an increase from 5 percent to 10 percent in the sales tax and/or a change in its base to include food and apparel, or 3) a cut in state programs. These are not acceptable alternatives; they either cannot raise enough money, they do not provide property tax relief, or they cut the services we need.

For these reasons the League of Women Voters will continue to work for a graduated income tax, which it strongly feels is the most equitable tax available to the state.

Road Rallye Successful.

To the editor of Town Topics:
I would like to thank the First National Bank of Princeton and the Town Topics for their support of greater Princeton Jaycees' recent road rallye.

First National Bank, without whom the rallye would not have been possible, co-sponsored the rallye. Their participation enabled the Jaycees to sponsor a retarded child for "Camp Jaycee", a camp for retarded children in the Pocomos. Certainly, First National's participation in this and other community services should be commended.

Secondly, the Town Topics has consistently supported our efforts to publicize Jaycee activities and has a hand in the success of all our prospects.

Thank you both for your continuing support.

Support Urged for UNICEF

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We're a healthy nation. We have the best and newest medical care available. But in many countries, health care, nutrition, education and even safe drinking water are luxuries. To numerous children in Asia, Africa and Latin America the prospect of reaching a healthy, productive adulthood is slim.

UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, is working to improve these prospects by bringing vital basic services to youngsters in deprived areas. The cost of these luxuries? They range from 9 cents which can buy enough vaccine to immunize a child against polio, to $60 which can provide ropes for constructing a shallow well.

Allowing this work to continue is support from concerned individuals. On National UNICEF Day,

October 31, thousands of children and adults raise funds to support UNICEF's work. Trick or Treat, the traditional event, means millions of doors opening to children with their UNICEF Collection Cartons. But other events, such as car washes, office collections and cyclethons will also benefit UNICEF's effort this Halloween.

It takes more than understanding and good intentions to help the millions of children in need. It takes dedication and knowledge. It takes sharing. It takes action on our part. Support UNICEF Day - October 31.

A SUGGESTION TO THE INDEPENDENT VOTERS OF MERCER COUNTY

If you're thinking of maybe casting your vote for that nice Republican candidate for Governor, take a closer look. True, he's adopted an untenable position on the New Jersey income tax, but he can escape from that. All political figures are subject to human error. That's not especially alarming.

What is disturbing is to see the ropes of the extreme right wing of his own party tightening around him. He has been a good public servant and, until the lariats of Neanderthal tycoons began to settle around his elbows, he's seemed a reasonable person. Let's not be duped once again by an apparent Mr. Good Guy who is increasingly controlled by the same types as forced Robert Dole on poor Jerry Ford in 1976. Remember Dole? Ford deserved better than that.

But the turners-back of the clock never learn. They are at it again. Their stalking horse is once again a decent man. But could he cope with the gang of state level Dole types to which he would be handcuffed?

All the greedy power groups are against Byrne. Big business is against him. Big labor is against him. No one seems to want him but people who seek a fair shake, people who know that higher sales and property taxes hit hardest those least able to pay them.

What would the "Good Guy's" backers do if they were to wangle him into the State House, along with "those one-eyed guys with knives in their teeth"* who would follow him aboard the ship of state?

The answer is in the New Jersey Republican record spelled out back in the days when State's per capita income was among the highest in the nation and its per capita expenditures for education and social services were almost at the bottom of the list of states, just a whisker above that of Mississippi. That record of shame is clear, and there it stands. It can't be erased by confident smiles now.

Granted, Governor Byrne is not an electrifying speaker. He can not (and let's be thankful for this) project specious ideas with the snap of TV commercials the way Reagan does so well. He wasn't trained to be an actor.

Governor Byrne is simply an honest man doing his best for ALL the people of the state, not just for those who -- deep down -- want to load a larger share of state costs on those least able to pay for them.

Of course it's important to study and evaluate the candidates themselves. But it's also prudent to examine who is backing each of them. Don't be fooled by appearances.

News Of The CHURCHES

HEALING SERVICES SET

At All Saints'. All Saints' Church, Van Dyke Road, holds a service of Holy Eucharist and Healing at 5:30 on the afternoon of Saint's Days as they are sprinkled through the church calendar. There will be one this Friday on the Feast of Saint Simon and Saint Jude and another on Tuesday, which is All Saints' Day.

As the Rev. A. Orley Swartzentruber explains it, the idea of a healing service is very simple and has been in use in many churches for quite a while. "We have no miracle gift of healing," he says, speaking of individual priests, "but the sacraments of the church are intended to be healing." The idea originated in the Epistle of James in which a call is issued to the presbyters or elders to anoint the sick and pray for healing.

This rite became known over the years as Extreme Unction, one of the seven sacraments of the Roman Catholic Church, and came to be used as the last rites for the dying. The intent now is to delete the "Extreme" and restore the original intent to the office, says Father Swartzentruber.

At All Saints' Holy Eucharist or Low Mass is first said, and then people stay at the communion rail or return to it. The priest comes forward to make the sign of the cross on the forehead with oil that was blessed by the Bishop in his annual visit.

NEW PROGRAM BEGUN

At Christ Congregation. The board of education at Christ Congregation, Walnut Lane and Houghton Street, has instituted a new program called Family Clusters. The aim is to provide an intergenerational experience for the participants who are meeting on nine Sunday evenings throughout the fall.

Participants, who range in age from four months to the mid 50's, meet at the homes of members for a shared meal, conversation, a game and a discussion of what the Rev. Kenneth Dannenhauer, pastor, calls "the rites of passage." These include baptism, confirmation, marriage and death. The evening closes with a house setting of Communion.

Co-ordinators of the program are the Rev. and Mrs. Nanford Wright-Saunders. The program began in September and will continue until early December.

BULLETIN NOTES

All Saints' Church will play host to a group of youngsters from Har Sinai Temple in Trenton this Sunday. The visit by approximately 30 members of the fifth grade classes at the temple returns a visit made to Har Sinai on October 13 by the fifth grade and confirmation classes of All Saints'.

In the previous visit, presentations by the children and short talks by their teachers attempted to explain the basic tenets of the Jewish faith to the All Saints' youngsters. A similar explanation will be made Sunday of the Anglican faith.

Accompanying the children from the temple will be Arthur L. Finkle, director of the religious school, and Rabbi Bernard Perelmutter, spiritual leader of the congregation, who will address the combined adult forums at All Saints'.

"Old Tyme Country Fair" is the theme this year for the annual bazaar held by the Hamilton Square Baptist Church, 3752 Nottingham Way, Hamilton Square, on Saturday, November 12, from 11 to 7. The booths include Christmas gifts of all kinds, fancy work, baked goods, plants arrangements, and fair treats of interest to all ages. The Snack Bar will be open from 11 into the afternoon and there will be a midway for children.

The Women's Guild of the Six Mile Run Reformed Church, Route 27, Franklin Park, will hold a fish fry on Wednesday, November 2. Dinner will be served from 5 to 7:30 and will include battered fried fish, French fries, cole slaw, French bread, homemade pie and coffee, tea or milk.

There will also be a Christmastown Bazaar featuring handmade gifts, Christmas ornaments, decorations and candles. Mrs. Betty Bothwell and Mrs. Louise Lowande, both of South Brunswick, are co-chairman.

"I want to tell you how effective your newspaper is - almost TOO effective! the advertiser reported to us. "I had over 50 calls the first day - the phone never stopped ringing, and we rented it almost immediately."

Results from ads in TOWN TOPICS have been a resounding story for more than 30 years. And more than incidentally, the price hasn't even doubled since we began to publish in 1946 - it was $1.25 then and only $2 for 20 words now. Just call 924-2200 any week day from 9 to 5 and one of our helpful ad-takers will put you in business.

Pleasant living room with corner windows looking up and down stream, cozy dining room, small kitchen, but one where you'll even enjoy dishwashing because of the view. Across the road on a fenced acre of land is a garden shed, a two-car garage and a small barn.

Charming old wide floor boards and plaster walls contrast with the modern aluminum siding. Stone stairs lead to the multi-level terraced river bank and that MARVELOUS view! For a small family with many activities, here is a find. $70,000

DRAKES CORNER ROAD

We offer Princeton's finest residential property. Built in the early thirties, the architect, owners, and builder produced an exquisitely crafted American house with unusual structural strength and authentic architectural detail. Selected Pennsylvania Stone, concrete and stone foundations, and reinforced concrete subfloors provide the strength. Antique glazing, paneling, fireplace mantles, plank flooring, hardwood, and other architectural antiques too numerous to mention were painstakingly collected and integrated to create an interior of extraordinary charm, taste, and value.

In the main house there are twenty eight rooms, nine full and two half baths, and thirteen fireplaces. Now divided into several living units, the center or owners section is of special note. It includes on first floor a front to back center hall, a study with corner fireplace and bookshelves; a main living room with fine panelling, beams, and fireplace; spacious dining room with fireplace, tile hearth, and lovely antique mantle and corner cupboard; informal dining room with polished brick floors, special shelving and walk-in fireplace; mudroom; large kitchen and pantry area with adjoining maids quarters.

On the second floor a master suite with huge dressing room and bedroom both with fireplaces; a private stairway to the living room below; a master bath; plus four other bedrooms and three baths. Huge floored attic over the entire house, full basement with finished game room. Oil fired hot water heat with individual room thermostats.

To the North of the driveway is a complex of outbuildings including a guest or caretaker's cottage, a four-car garage, and stable or machinery building. The grounds, twenty four acres in all, include a tennis court and spring fed swimming pool, sweeping lawns, huge shade trees, gardens, and protective forest. Price and further details upon request.

MAJESTIC! STATELY!

This is one of Princeton's handsomest homes. Located on quiet Olden Lane on a beautiful acre overlooking the Institute lawns, the house combines a perfect blend of stone and clapboard, with steep slate roofs. This is truly an exceptional residence.

The house is comfortably sized but not overwhelming. Warm panelling, marble fireplaces and expansive mouldings highlight the gracious rooms, divided into family, living and entertainment areas. Six bedrooms with 3 1/2 baths. Solidly built by Matthews in 1930, the house has been modernized and is in excellent condition.

A beautiful terrace combines indoor and outdoor living with unusual privacy only a few minutes from Palmer Square. See this before the open house, by appointment only, with a Henderson agent. $272,000

Weatherman David Ludlum to Be Aboard as Pan Am Marks 50th Anniversary by Flying Around the World over Both Poles

This coming weekend, between 4:15 Friday afternoon, Princeton time, and 7:40 Sunday evening, Princeton weatherman David Ludlum will have gone around the world in an unusual flight from pole to pole.

He will be one of a select number of 150 passengers aboard "Flight 50," Pan American Airlines' celebration of the half century since it inaugurated commercial flights from Key West to Havana in 1927. The circum-polar route has never before been flown with paying passengers.

The flight will begin in San Francisco and will go across the North Pole en route to London, where there will be a two-hour stopover for refueling. Then down to Cape Town, South Africa, for another stop, and across the South Pole to Auckland, New Zealand, before the final leg back to San Francisco. The elapsed time is expected to be 54 hours, 48 in the air and the other six in two-hour refueling stops at London, Cape Town and Auckland.

"I'll miss the Penn football game," says Mr. Ludlum of his weekend jaunt. It was a hot Sunday in August when he saw a story in the travel section of the New York Times announcing this flight, and he ran to the phone to see if he could be aboard. Some six weeks later he received a return phone call inviting him to purchase a ticket.

Windows for All. Pan Am has guaranteed a seat by the window in the Boeing 747 SP called "New Horizons," the latest Pan Am aircraft. Although the plane seats 300 it will be only half full, including a number of Pan Am officials and members of the press in addition to those who have purchased tickets.

Mr. Ludlum's impressive credentials as a meteorologist (he owns and operates Science Associates, a weather instrument marketing company on Nassau Street, and is editor and publisher of "Weather-wise Magazine" which he founded 30 years ago, and writes a monthly column on weather for "The Country Journal" magazine) have not gone unnoticed by the airline. Pan Am will supply him with a duplicate set of the weather reports that are given to the pilot just before take-off. And at the three stopover points, the weather services in England, South Africa and New Zealand will bring him local weather maps and current satellite photographs so that he will have an up-to-the-minute view of weather conditions as he progresses around the world.

The reason for the interest and the preparations is another book. Mr. Ludlum has completed 95 percent of a new book dealing with U.S. weather nationwide and describing what the weather was during principal events in American history. The book is an expansion of an earlier work on New England weather, published two years ago by Houghton Mifflin and brings together material, he says, that has never been published before.

It will tell what the weather was at every presidential election from 1828 to the present and at every inauguration from 1789 to the present. The climatic conditions affecting major events such as the first airplane flight and the launching of the first dirigible will be described, and there will be a section on how weather affected certain important sporting events over the years, such as the Kentucky Derby, the Indianapolis 500 and the World Series. The book also describes how weather played a part in the outcome of Revolutionary and Civil War Battles fought on American soil.

Weather at the Poles. One chapter deals with North and South polar expeditions, "the dog sled people as well as the airplane people," he says. After poring over maps of the polar regions, he is eager to see "the layout," as he puts it, in person, spread out below him from the window of the plane. He will add an account of this trip to the chapter.

Mr. Ludlum will take with him two books by Princeton authors, Jeannette Mirsky's "To the Arctic!" and Charles Neider's "Antarctica," a collection of explorer's accounts along with the author's personal account of his first trip to Antarctica.

Fascinated by weather as a hobby since boyhood, Mr. Ludlum found when he came here as an undergraduate that Princeton University did not offer courses in meteorology. He majored instead in U.S. history, graduating with the Class of 1933. After a year in California to see what the west was like and to study western frontier history, he returned to Princeton and received his Ph.D. in history in 1938.

There followed two years at Peddie School in Hightstown, in which he taught all the courses in ancient and medieval history that the other member of a two-man history department did not. He enlisted in the Air Force in 1940 and after a certain amount of badgering about weather, was assigned to learn meteorology.

Operation Ludlum. Mr. Ludlum served in North Africa and Europe until the end of the war, forecasting weather conditions in advance of allied attacks and campaigns. The accuracy of one of his predictions earned him notoriety in nationwide magazine articles and a documentary film was produced on what came to be known as "Operation Ludlum."

As he tells it, Operation Ludlum was the code word for an attack on the town of Casino, Italy, in the winter of 1944. Allied troops had already destroyed the monastery outside the town in a thrust February 2 based on his weather predictions. The break-through of the town itself was scheduled and rescheduled over a rainy three-week period until March 15, when the skies seemed to be clearing.

At the advance Air Force operations post, the colonel in charge finally turned to Ludlum and asked, "Do we go or do we not go?" Mr. Ludlum's answer was yes, and the weather turned out exactly

NEW LEAD IN MUSICAL Heckart Withdraws.
 "Artistic differences in the interpretation of the part," says McCarter Theatre, lay behind the departure of Eileen Heckart from the leading role in Clark Gesner's new musical, "The Utter Glory of Morrissey Hall," which will open at McCarter next Thursday, November 3, at 7:30.

Ma. Heckart has been replaced by Patricia Falkenhain, whom McCarter audiences saw last season as Lady Undershaft in "Major Barbara." She won the New Jersey Critics Award for the portrayal.

Ms. Heckart's withdrawal is McCarter's second of the season in as many plays. Zohra Lampert left the cast of "The Confirmation" and was replaced by Marilyn Chris. Each play has a different director.

Whatever the phrase "artistic differences" may mean will presumably be explained at a press conference at McCarter this Thursday. It had been scheduled before Ms. Heckart's departure.

Other Questions, Too. Although everybody would like to know the real "why," there are other questions in the minds of this season's audience. One relates to the "by arrangement with" names that appear on McCarter's drama advertisements, and to the fact that rehearsals, at least for "Morrissey Hall," are being held in New York.

"The Confirmation" was produced "by special arrangement" with Stephen Wells, Gerry Lou Silverman and Michael Young. "Morrissey Hall" by arrangement with Arthur Whitelaw and Albert W. Selden.

Does this mean that McCarter is now just a bus-stop on the out-of-town route? Isn't McCarter its own producer?

The Dollar Factor. In the temporary absence of McCarter's producing director Michael Kahn, McCarter Associates President Petie Duncan explains that it's all a question of economics.

"McCarter can't afford to go it alone," she points out, "It must have a link with outside producers. This means it can hire better actors, have a better set, and so on. In return, the other producers get an out-of-town tryout."

"The important thing, the MOST important thing, is that plays are originating here,"

Mrs. Duncan emphasizes: "We are 'top banana.' The reaction of a Princeton audience has an importance. The Ford Foundation people recognized these things when they gave us the grant."

In addition, McCarter plays often move to the Annenberg Theatre in Philadelphia, another economic boost.

"The concept of a 'floating repertory' is a new one," she continues, "it is not in any sense a kind of straw-hat circuit. It gives producers a chance to cover their costs before they get to New York."

ON TO "MORRISSEY"!
 A Male in a Trunk? Yes, that's what McCarter says. Part of the plot, you know.

The male delivery, by parcel post, is to "Morrissey Hall" whose "utter glory" will be paraded for one and all when the new Clark Gesner musical opens November 3 at McCarter.

Gesner, you'll recall, wrote "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown." This is his first musical since.

"Morrissey Hall" is a prim boarding-school in England inhabited by young ladies who are not prim at all. "Unspeakable!" "Hilarious!" McCarter says.

Rumors of slavery and witchcraft float through the dormitories, bumper cars and tanks are out there on the lawn. And there's that young man in the trunk.

Patricia Falkenhain plays Headmistress Julia Faysle and Jane Rose will be former Headmistress Emily Stokes.

(Jane Rose, incidentally, will be Grandmama in "Hallowe'en With the Addams Family," an NBC-TV special due this Sunday. She also plays Cloris Leachman's mother-in-law in "Phyllis.")

After the November 15 performance of "The Utter Glory of Morrissey Hall," McCarter will hold a post-performance discussion of the play. Everybody in the audience is invited to stay and exchange ideas with cast, director, and Mr. Gesner.

POP!
 Two Concerts. Dan Fogelberg, whose "Captured Angel" was a hit of the '76 season, will bring his Fool's Gold band to Dillon Gym (on the University campus) for a concert on Friday, November 18, at 8. McCarter Theatre is his sponsor.

OPENING DATE NEARS

For Players' New Season. The scenic Scottish moors around Edinburgh in the 1930's provide the setting for the drama, "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie," the Princeton Community Players' season opening production on November 4.

The production will be staged at the Princeton Community Playhouse, 171 Broadmead, with a reception after the opening night production. "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" continues on November 5, 6, 11, 12, 13, 18 and 19 with Friday and Saturday shows at 8:30 and Sunday performance times at 7:30.

In the title role of the Jay Presson Allen play adapted from Muriel Spark's novel is PCP veteran Diana Crane. Art teacher Teddy Lloyd is portrayed by Churchill Clark and the music teacher, Gordon Lowther, by Bill La Touche. Playing Miss Brodie's pupils are Nina Mankin, Christine Cragg, Robin Buckingham and Jane Beard. The staid Miss Mackay is portrayed by Dorothy Edwards.

Directing "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" is Susan Tapper, co-adjunct drama professor at Trenton State College and Drama Club Director of the upper school at Stuart Country Day.

This season the Players are offering three types of money-saving subscriptions. A $12 subscription is good for any four performances, while subscription for four Sunday shows costs $7. A third way to support the Players combines subscription price and membership for $20 and four tickets.

For further ticket information write to Princeton Community Players, Box 2171, Princeton or call 921-6314.

NEW LOOK GIVEN

To Players' Theatre. The Princeton Community Players theatre at 171 Broadmead is undergoing a major face-lifting in preparation for the opening of the season on November 4 with "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie."

In order to allow more flexibility in lighting the stage, the entire ceiling of the auditorium has been regilded. The auditorium walls and floor have been repainted. The green room is newly painted, and the lobby will have a new Art Deco personality, designed by Margie Fichthorn.

HALF-ROUND....

For "Godspell." Performed in the half-round in the newly remodeled 185 Nassau Street Theatre, the Triangle Club production of "Godspell" will open a nine-performance run on Friday, November 4. "Godspell" continues Triangle's new tradition of a fall production in addition to the usual original musical in the spring.

The show will run Friday and Saturday, November 4 and 5 and Friday, November 10 and 11 at 8:15 p.m. On Saturday, November 12, there will be two performances -- one at 7 p.m. and another at 10 p.m. On Sunday, November 6, there will be a 7:30 p.m. performance. On Sunday, November 13, there will be two performances -- one at 3 p.m. and another at 7:30 p.m.

Camilla Carpenter is the director, assisted by Nancy Bleemer. Annie Rikleen is musical director and Laura Ellsworth, choreographer.

"M-A-S-H"

At Trenton State. A new stage version of "M-A-S-H", the life and times of the 4077th will have its premiere -- for this area, anyway -- at Trenton State College this Saturday at 8:15 p.m. The arena will be Kendall Theatre on the campus.

A special matinee will be given this Sunday at 3 p.m. and performances will continue the following week-end, November 4, 5 and 6 at 8:15.

This production, based on the Richard Hooker novel and the film, is a joint product of Trenton State alumni, faculty, administrators and local actors. It is the college's first alumni theatre production, and alumni hope that it will be an annual event.

Members of the cast are Bob Stives, Wayne T. Dilts, Ed Stout, Jay Thatcher, Kathy Marsters and Jack DiMonte. The director is Paul Tickolt. Elaine Hagaman is stage-manager.

"CAMELOT"

In Trenton. Hamilton Theatre II, at 2721 Clinton Avenue in Trenton, will present the musical "Camelot" this Friday and Saturday and again Friday and Saturday, November 4 and 5 at Nottingham Middle School, Klockner Road and Hamilton Avenue. Performances will start at 8 p.m. each evening.

"LAST TYCOON"

The film traces the decline and fall of tense and elegant artist-businessman who is brought down by the alliance of big business and organized labor.

TO TALK ON MUSIC

Before Concert. The Princeton area chapter of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra League has arranged with John Ellis, chairman of the Lawrenceville School music department, to present "warm-up" lectures before the Symphony's concerts at McCarter Theatre. The first lecture will be held Monday, November 7, at noon in the Bristol Chapel of Westminster Choir College and will last approximately an hour.

Using tapes, the piano and his own musical background, Mr. Ellis will discuss the works of Mozart and Mahler to be performed November 9. Music lovers and concertgoers are invited to bring a sandwich; coffee will be provided. Admission is free to members of the NJSO League, and $2 for non members.

Additional members to the Princeton chapter of the League are welcome, and a sign-up table will be available at the concert. Dues are $5 and help the chapter fund children's concerts and arrange visits to Symphony rehearsals for area high school students. The Chapter also sponsors an outdoor summer pops concert and plans musical happenings in members' homes.

The program for the first of this season's four subscription concerts by the Symphony will include Mozart's Symphony No. 41 ("Jupiter") and "Exultate, Jubilate" and Mahler's Symphony No. 4. The concert will be led by associate conductor Jesse Levine and will feature soprano Barbara Hoher.

For ticket information call the NJSO, (201) 624-8203. For additional information on membership in the League Chapter, call Mrs. William Humphrey, 896-1611.

Nine artists from the Marlboro Music Festival in Vermont will perform masterpieces of the woodwind repertoire: Beethoven's "Octet in E flat, Op. 103," Gounod's "Petite Symphonie" and "Serenade in E flat" by Mozart. The artists appearing will be David Singer, clarinet; Michael Johns, horn; Theodore Baskin, oboe; Robert Routh, horn; Laurel Zucker, flute; Lynette D. Cohen, bassoon; Stewart Newbold, clarinet; Rudolph Vrbsky, oboe and Alexander Heller, bassoon.

Music from Marlboro brings soloists from the Marlboro Music Festival which is under the artistic direction of Rudolph Serkin. Tickets at $4.50, students $2, are available at the Concert Office, Woolworth Center, 452-4239, or at the door the evening of the concert.

A GOLDEN JUBILEE

For University Chapel. As the opening event in a year-long celebration of the Golden Jubilee of the Princeton University Chapel, the Chapel and the Chapel Choir will present in concert the Chapel and Oratorio Choirs of Westminster Choir College on Sunday evening, October 30, at 7 in the University Chapel. The concert is open to the public, and admission is free.

Plans for a new university chapel were made shortly after the destruction by fire of the old Marquand Chapel in the spring of 1920. The cornerstone was laid in 1925 and the Chapel dedicated on May 31, 1928. Therefore the 50th year celebration will be climaxed with a service and other festivities in May, 1978.

The Westminster Oratorio Choir, conducted by Dennis Shrock, is primarily a repertoire organization for sophomores. The 100-voice chorus is trained to sing in all musical styles from the Renaissance through the 20th century, including works with orchestra such as the New Jersey Symphony and the Colonial Symphony. On the present program the group will sing Victoria's "O quam gloriosum," "And I saw a New Heaven" by Edgar Bainten, and Palestrina's "Tu es Petrus."

The Westminster Chapel Choir, conducted by Robert Simpson, is made up of freshmen. On the October 30 program it will perform Britten's "Hymn to St. Peter," "How Excellent Thy Name" by Howard Hanson, and Mozart's "Justum Deduxit." The remaining choral music on the program will be performed by the combined choirs, singing Vaughan Williams' "Te Deum Laudamus," and a chorus from Mendelssohn's oratorio "St. Paul." Jean Lippincott of the organ faculty will perform compositions by Bach and Vierne. Readings appropriate to the event and to the compositions being performed will be delivered by Eric Routley.

media at the upstairs gallery at 100 Nassau offers a demonstration of the stylistic range possible within the category of realism. Works that function as fine well-developed works of art are accompanied by art that is decorative and frothy.

Several paintings by Helen Gallagher reveal this artist's skill with her subject and medium. Landscapes and still life are attractively designed and well painted, with the artist demonstrating great respect for her subject and her color use.

Landscapes by Warren Bakely are also noteworthy. Bakely uses a subdued palette to create rich effects in well composed works.

PAINTINGS ON VIEW

By Katharine Renninger. Gallery 100 will exhibit paintings and drawings by Katharine Steele Renninger Sunday through November 17.

A resident of Newtown, Pa. Ms. Renninger attended Moore College of Art, where she was awarded the Lewis European Travelling Fellowship. She later taught freehand drawing.

Ms. Renninger has had numerous solo shows. She has been represented in annual exhibitions of the National Academy of Design, Butler Institute of American Art, American Academy of Arts and Letters, National Drawing Society, Silvermine Guild, Philadelphia Museum of Art, Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Art, Philadelphia Civic Center, Delaware Museum, Allentown Museum, and others including an Art in the Embassies program in Kingston, Jamaica. POTTERY ON VIEW

At Grover's Mill. Grover's Mill Graphics, 164 Cranbury Road, Princeton Junction, is holding its first pottery show with the work of two Swiss potters, Beatrice Landolt and Mark Lanzrein. The exhibit will run through November 12.

A pottery teacher at Middlesex College, Ms. Landolt lives in Hopewell where she runs a school and studio called Highland Farm Pottery. Primarily a creator of fantasy pieces, she is exhibiting large platters adorned with Picasso-like figures in various poses, with wings, on beaches or flying through space. The exhibit also includes her round containers, which can either be displayed flat or hung on the wall, and ceramic waves, sectioned and colored and then set into acrylic boxes.

Mr. Lanzrein works in a loft-studio in New York City. His rustic stoneware is purely functional. He colors his clay first, shapes it, then fires it to achieve rich blends of color. Gallery hours are Monday through Saturday, 10 to 4.

WATERCOLORS ON VIEW

At Medical Center. The watercolor paintings of Lucile Geiser, A.W.S., are on view in the coffee shop at Princeton Medical Center. The exhibit will continue until December 4.

Ms. Geiser was graduated from Moore College of Art in Philadelphia and continued her studies at the Arts Students League, New York City with Mario Cooper, N.A. and Rex Brandt, N.A., watercolor instructor at the Princeton Art Association. She is represented in numerous public and private collections including the Frye Museum in Seattle and Grumbacher Collection. She maintains a year-round studio in Sea Girt, in conjunction with her mother, Ruth Yail, and a summer gallery in Naples, Maine.

as he predicted, good in the morning, marginal by afternoon and rain at 6 p.m. The air activity in the morning was successful but the follow-in by the ground forces was hindered by the wet weather.

The incident was just part of the routine to Mr. Ludlum at the time, but Time and Newsweek both ran stories of it. The event was later made into a documentary film in 1950 by Paramount Theatres and Mr. Ludlum had the pleasure of playing himself. Last June his recommendation to Princeton University to go ahead and hold commencement outdoors was born out by clear skies by 11 a.m. after a weekend of steady rain.

Mr. Ludlum takes this all in stride, as he is taking the weekend pole to pole trip around the world. "I'll be back in time for the Yale game," he says.

The park site, an old quarry occupying 4.2 acres between Spruce and Harrison Streets, was recently purchased by the Borough for preservation as a passive recreational area. The clean-up will augment grading and land-fill operations which are now underway.

Borough Engineer George Olexa has proposed a park development plan which strives to preserve the natural features of the quarry. Included in the plan are a bird-watching area, a picnic grove with tables and grills, game tables and playground equipment.

At its annual organizational meeting on October 13, the Association elected the following officers for 1977-78: Lee Burr, president; Judy Judd, vice-president; Margie Rosenthal, treasurer; and Valerie Larson, secretary.

Also elected were the following regional representatives: John Bleimaier, Hanna Fox, Steven Frakt, Rob McChesney, Rosa McWilliams, Dana Powsner and Jessie Serrell.

ROSTER PLANS TALK

On Job Sharing. The Professional Roster will sponsor a talk on job sharing—holding down a fulltime job on a part time basis with a partner -- Wednesday, November 2, at 7:30 at 5 Ivy Lane.

Since the 1960's some employers have been experimenting on a small scale with various employment concepts but now with so many people unemployed or underemployed, the need for such options is vital, says Ms. Davidson. She has written on this subject for "Working Woman" and the "American School Board Journal."

The public is invited. The Professional Roster is a clearinghouse of job information which seeks to serve the demands of the business and college community with the skills and talents of educated people. Its offices are open from 10 to 1 Monday through Friday.

How's this for an oddity ... Garo Yepremian, now with the Miami Dolphins, never saw a game of pro football in his life until he was the kicker who kicked-off to start a game on Oct. 16, 1966 between Detroit and Baltimore! ... Yepremian was born in Cyprus and came to the U.S. to visit his brother ... Garo had played soccer in Cyprus and his brother called several National Football League teams here, asking them to give Garo a try-out ... Detroit did, in mid-season, signed him up, and used him to kickoff in the first football game he had ever seen!

This season is the 42nd consecutive year that those weekly football rankings have been published by the Associated Press—and we thought it would be interesting to see which teams have finished first at the end of each season in the 41 years that this poll has been in existence ... Next come, in order, Oklahoma (5), Minnesota (4), Alabama (3), Ohio State (3), Southern Cal (3), Army (2), Nebraska (2), Pitt (2), Texas (2) -- and the following schools once each: Auburn, LSU, Maryland, Michigan, Michigan State, Syracuse, Tennessee, TCU and Texas A&M.

Tigers Hope to Follow 20-7 Harvard Victory By Defeating Penn and Move Up in Tight Race

There is virtually no likelihood that it will happen, but it is astonishing enough that it is even mathematically possible: if Princeton defeats Pennsylvania at Philadelphia Saturday, the Tigers could move into a tie for first place in the Ivy League.

The odds against it are astronomical (all three front-runners would have to lose in games they are favored to win), but the Tigers' continuing ability to play their best football in recent years against Harvard, combined with the lack of a truly strong team among the Ivies this season, has kept them within firing distance of a tie for the title as October draws to a close.

The oft-quoted truism describing the league's balance ("On a given day, every team has a chance of beating another") was never more apt than last Saturday. Simultaneously in Cambridge, New Haven and Hanover, Princeton was leading Harvard, 3-0, Penn had a 14-0 margin over Yale and Cornell was ahead of Dartmouth, 7 to 3. Only the Tigers managed to prevail at the finish, but the trend is clear: on the remaining three Saturdays of the 1977 season, several more wholly unexpected results will shape the final standings.

Ties at the end of the season have been numerous—seven since 1956—but a 5-2 record has never earned a share of first place. Because six of the eight teams can still finish 5-2, such an outcome is now a distinct possibility.

A Good Day at the Races. Bobby Isom, the Princeton tailback and co-captain, is on the verge of becoming a superstar in the Tigers' century-plus football history. If he is not held firmly in check in any of his three remaining games, he will certainly achieve such status—with 1,304 yards gained rushing so far, he is now eighth on the Tigers' all-time list and may go at least as high as fifth.

While numerous Princetonians had a fine afternoon at Cambridge, notably virtually everyone on defense, the offensive line and punter Bill Powers, it was Isom's 44 carries for 209 yards and a touchdown that were largely responsible for knocking Harvard out of first place. The 44 times he was given the ball broke the previous mark by Dick Kasmaier and Mike Howard, Isom's replacement last fall. It was also five more times than any back had carried in NCAA action this year.

First time the Tigers got the ball, Isom carried ten times on a 17-play drive (seven of them in a row) as the Orange and Black moved 60 yards, stalled out on a needless delay-of-game penalty and called on Chris Howe to boot a 36-yard field goal. The performance was largely repeated just before the end of the first half, a 56-yard drive getting to the Crimson 15 and Howe making good from 32 yards out. So adamant was the Princeton defense that Harvard ran only half a dozen plays in Tiger territory, none closer than the 38-yard line.

NOT FOOTBALL BUT VOLLEYBALL: Harvard safetyman Paul Helas (10) has just battled a pass into the air that Kirby Lockhart threw into the end zone. It was intended for tight end Frank Vuono (not in picture) but Princeton slotback Glenn Robinson (23) was directly underneath the ball and Helas was too far away to lay a hand on him. Touchdown was first of two in Tigers' 20-7 victory.

First-half statistics showed the home team with 81 yards rushing and Isom with 117. The Tigers had held the ball for more than 21 minutes of the allotted 30 -- a true throwback to a single-wing ball control.

Wind a Major Factor. The third period was scoreless largely because Howe was unable to gauge the amount he should allow when placed kicking into the stiff wind that was blowing from right to left. A pair of field goal attempts from just over 30 yards out were far enough but both wide to the left.

The Tigers continued to dominate a Harvard team that had averaged 323 yards in Ivy action so far, and had roared to a 31-point total against Dartmouth, which had shut out Yale. The Crimson ran just one play across midfield—by two yards.

As the game turned out, it was virtually decided not by any of the 141 plays of the afternoon but by Harvard's astonishing failure to call time out just before the third quarter ended. With 11 seconds left, it lost two yards on third down on its own 27.

Had the Crimson called time out, it could have kicked with a wind that was gusting to 33 miles an hour at its back. Failing to do so, it opened the final period by punting into the gale, the ball shanking off Scott Coolidge's foot and going times (to none for Princeton) and lost possession each time. Both Isom and fullback Gary Larsen bounced off Harvard tacklers repeatedly, while poor execution also kept Harvard's offensive efforts well below par. At least a third of the Crimson's total offense of 261 yards was traceable to Princeton's willingness to give up short yardage in a prevent defense to protect against the long gain.

A variety of statistics testified to Princeton's complete domination of the game. Running 89 plays to just 52 for the losers, the Orange and Black had the ball for better than 42 minutes—compared to just over 17 for Harvard. Isom's skill was largely responsible for his team's ability to convert 10 of 20 third-down situations, whereas Harvard was a meagre 3 of 11. Finally, Isom's total of 209 yards was 69 more than all those who carried for the Crimson could manage.

The victory marked the second time in as many years that Princeton has gone to Cambridge and upset a Harvard team bent on winning the Ivy title. It was the Tigers' fourth victory in their last seven games with this Big Three rival, the only team in addition to Columbia they have been able to dominate during this stretch.

QUICK LOOK AT PENN

OFFENSE: Using wishbone for first year, Quakers have developed strong running game, major factor in ability to upset Brown and nearly top Yale

DEFENSE: Has had trouble containing opponents' ground game, yielding an average of three touchdowns to each of four Ivy foes to date

CHIEF ASSET: Wishbone, clicking quickly, has made Penn best running team among Ivies with average of 276 yards in first four games.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Lack of quarterback who can pass. Quakers almost never throw (11 completions for 97 yards in Ivy play), and near-total lack of balance can be costly

TYPE OF ATTACH: Wishbone.

PENN HAS BEEN A JUNKY
Tigers Have Lost Last 5. Not since one of Jake McCandless's teams whipped Penn, 31-0, in 1971 has Princeton been able to heat the Quakers. With the exception of the Red and Blue team of 1972, which made a run at the Ivy title and finished in first division, none of these teams has topped the .500 mark, yet all have taken the Tigers' measure—often through their own doing, as was the case in last year's 10-9 defeat when an inept second half failed to protect a slim 9-3 lead.

New the Orange and Black heads for Franklin Field for the first time in three years to meet a Penn team that is packing considerably more offensive punch than had seemed logical when it opted to adopt the rather complicated wishbone alignment this fall. The Quakers have trimmed Brown, 14-7, and Cornell, 17-7, lost to Yale and, somewhat unaccountably, to Columbia by 12 points. A frequently porous defense has made it difficult for them to post as many points on the board as they need to win.

Because the relatively intricate wishbone (the position of the other three backs curving in toward the quarterback) normally requires an experienced ball-handler at the latter position, it is intriguing that the man who is making the Quaker offense go is a converted running back. Tom Roland has replaced Teny Sciella in the starting position, and last week ran for 177 yards, on one occasion a 60-yard jaunt on a keeper around left end for a TD.

Denis Grosvenor has gained most of Penn's yardage, with the Quakers generally showing much more ability in moving the ball than they did a year ago, when they scored more than two touchdowns only once in nine games. Their almost total disinterest in passing disrupts the balance in their attack, however, and if Princeton can contain the numerous options the wishbone offers reasonably well, the Tigers may win two in a row for the first time since early in 1975.

While Princeton was much the superior team the day it played Harvard, it was again plagued by its uncertain offense despite the fact that it had scored 20 points by game's end. The Tigers had the ball inside the losers' 20 in various sequences for a total of 18 plays (once on the 6 with a first down) and managed only two field goals. Kirby Lockhart had another good statistical day (6 for 11 for 65 yards and a touchdown) but the TD was a deflected freak, and a very visible lack of confidence in calling pass plays continues to exist.

There is, nonetheless, a degree of solidness in this team that has no better than a 2-4 record. Four Ivy teams have managed only 38 points against it, and its defensive players believe they can dominate the other guys—as they did all afternoon at Cambridge.

Badly hobbled by an ankle injury for virtually all of the 1976 season, Isom is now giving the Tigers the kind of ball carrying ability that has not been seen since Walt Snickenberger graduated, and he is running behind a far better line than Snickenberger knew. If the passing game can somehow add a bit more to the Tigers' performance in the final third of the season, they have a real shot at a much better showing than seemed possible when October began.

These questions will be answered Saturday morning at 10:30 when the Hun football team plays host to Princeton Day School. The contest has no league value for either team, but don't let that fool you. This is a big game for both schools.

"We would like to win, definitely, and break the streak this week," said Hun coach Dave Leete. His team bowed to powerful Delbarton last week, 34-13, for its fifth consecutive loss.

PDS, which defeated Hun for the first time last year, is coming off a wild, 34-26, loss to Wardlaw in which Panther back Rob Olsson scored three TDs and rushed for 108 yards. A PDS victory would even its record at 3-3-1.

To win, Hun must contain Olsson, Leete agreed. Center Sal Ammirata, who missed last week's game with an injury, will be ready to go against PDS, Leete reported, but another Hun starter, fullback Pete Black, also sidelined with injuries, remains a question mark. "It would be terrific if we could get this one," said Leete.

Against Delbarton, Hun, said Leete, "got off to a lousy start," as the home team jumped to a 20-0 halftime lead. "After that we played them pretty even."

Hun scored the first touchdown of the second half when E.T. Roach intercepted a pass and ran it back 45 yards. Its second six-pointer in the final period came on a three-yard pass from Roach to Tom West—and it marked the first time any team has scored more than six points against Delbarton this season.

Leete cited Roach for his play at quarterback and that of sophomore Dave Wheaton and senior Craig Darvin, both of whom play both ways. Wheaton is a halfback and linebacker on defense; Darvin a running back and defensive halfback.

PHS, Loser to W. Windsor, Faces St. Anthony Next

An angry – and frustrated – Princeton High School player summed it up in five words: "Short season, wasn't it fellows!"

Oh, there are four games left to play but the season ended Saturday for the Little Tigers, when West Windsor stopped them, 14-3. The win slammed the door on any PHS hopes of winning the Colonial Valley Conference title where it is now 0-2 with three league games to play. PHS was the defending league co-champions with Notre Dame.

There is no mystery about Princeton's ineffectiveness this year. "The offense isn't doing the job," said PHS coach Jim Beachell. In five games, Princeton has scored four times and one of those TDs was the product of the defense.

Nowhere was Princeton's inability to come up with the big play it needed better illustrated than with 4:23 left to play in the West Windsor contest. Barry Turner had just recovered a fumble on the WW 45. PHS was trailing 7-3. A score meant probable victory.

After three running plays netted seven yards, PHS needed three more to keep the drive going, but Daryl Grisham, used sparingly in the game, was stopped cold going off tackle.

WW took over and five plays later fullback Ron Dilatush slipped the PHS defense when he rumbled 58 yards on a draw play on a third-and-15. "It was a big play; they just caught us on it," said Beachell. Until then, the Little Tiger defense had been inspired.

Battle of Have-Nots. Barring a tie, either PHS or St. Anthony is going to win its first league game on Saturday when the two meet at 11 at the PHS field.

The Iron Mikes are winless in five games but have one tie. Like Princeton, they have had trouble moving the ball and have a good defense. In their last start, they were blanked by Steinert, 6-0.

Beachell reported that St. Anthony's has a good quarterback and some fine receivers. But their quarterback, Anthony Morello sustained an ankle injury against Steinert and may be a doubtful starter.

On paper, at least, PHS should be favored. The Little Tigers found themselves in the same position the past two years and both times St. Anthony's went on to upset them. Last year's 14-6 loss cost PHS outright ownership of the CVC crown.

It followed a bus accident en route to the game in which two PHS players were treated for injuries and Beachell now concedes the game should have been postponed. In any event, the Little Tigers are pointing to this one. They want to atone for those upsets.

Nothing Fancy. Seeking its first win over the Little Tigers, the surprising West Windsor eleven did not try to be fancy. Disdaining the pass, coach Rex Walker sent Dilatush and halfback Chris Gillette straight ahead into the PHS line again and again.

Only twice did the PHS defense bend. In the second period, trailing 3-0, WW engineered the game's only sustained drive, marching 70 yards in 14 plays. Dilatush, who carried nine times during the march, bulled over for the TD from four yards out, knocking over three PHS defenders ahead of him.

The 6-2, 183 lb. Pirate captain put on a show for the homecoming crowd: at halftime, he had 72 yards in 14 carries; by game's end he had rushed for 171. "The guys really wanted to win this one," he said.

The second time, of course, the PHS defense broke down was on Dilatush's 58-yard gallop. Mark Birnbaum kicked both extra points.

King Recovers Fumble. PHS, for its part, had the better of it in the early going. Mike King got things under way by recovering a Pirate fumble on the home team 49. First-year quarterback Tom Seiler directed the Little Tigers to two first downs, but Barry Turner and Bob Campbell were stopped for no gain on two thrusts and the drive stalled.

On fourth from the 18, needing eight, Seiler kicked a 34-yard field goal, the ball clearing the cross bar with plenty to spare.

PHS kept WW bottled up when Jerry Gillette slipped on the four trying to field Seiler's line-drive kickoff. WW had no success the next three plays against the Little Tiger defense led by Turner, Tony Intartaglia and Chris Cahill, and had to punt again. But PHS was unable to move the ball consistently for the remainder of the game.

PHS completed its first four passes, including a nice flea-flicker that went from Seiler to Turner to Cahill for a first down. However, when PHS was forced to play catchup, its air blitz ended with a whimper as Seiler missed on his last nine attempts. "We couldn't come up with the big play," said Beachell. "You can't lose 15 yards twice in a row and expect to win."

"West Windsor," he added, executed well. "They had the ball a lot more than we did."

PHS fans constantly exhorted the defense to get the

MILLER PACES PHS
In 6-0 Soccer Win. If Princeton High School played only West Windsor in soccer, the Little Tigers' Jon Miller would rival Pele in scoring.

The senior wing scored three second - period goals to lead PHS to a 6-0 win over WW Thursday and thus end a mild PHS slump. Earlier in the season, Miller had booted home four goals against the Pirates. His latest hat trick gives him 11 for the season, one less than team leader Ron Celestin.

Previously, PHS, which has already clinched a berth in the NJSIAA state championships, lost a 3-2 decision to Hopewell Valley in overtime. Among public schools in the Colonial Valley Conference, only PHS and Lawrence have qualified for the tournament. Lawrence ball back, and it did. But one can go to the well just so many times. The defense again got fine performances from everyone, especially Pete Gorman, Barry Turner, Keith Wadsworth, Intartaglia, Jordan Paul and Karim El-Meligi.

The offense has sputtered because of inexperience. Seiler had never played the position before until he was thrust into it because of the unexpected departure of Todd Blackledge.

And Beachell's problems in the position will continue. Seiler, a junior, will not be back next year either, because his family is moving to Connecticut. It could be a long two years for the Blue and White.

West Windsor's next game will be at home on Saturday against Green Brook. Kickoff is 1:30.

squeaked in when it had to defeat or tie Ewing and it won, 1-0.

Two other league members, Notre Dame and St. Anthony will compete in the parochial school state playoffs.

Against West Windsor, Pat Gautier, Princeton's third high scorer with nine, sent Princeton's first goal in the net after a scoreless first period. Miller added the next three, Tom Bolster the fifth and Pierre Muri the sixth, the last two coming in the final period.

PHS goalie Sandy Howell had six saves en route to his second shutout. He appears whole again after being hobbled with an ankle injury.

Earlier against Hopewell, PHS took a 2-0 first period lead on breakaway goals by Gautier and Bolster. "I thought they'd quit, but they came back and played tough," commented PHS coach Ed Beacham.

Hopewell's George Ackerman played toughest of all. He scored one in the second period, tied the game with his second goal in the fourth period and won it with his third score 20 seconds into the overtime. Both goalies, Howell and Brian Troutman of the Bulldogs, recorded 13 saves.

Beacham has made one change in his lineup. He has moved Bolster from fullback to wing, dropped Miller back to halfback and inserted David Reed at fullback.

He also cited senior Bob Mooney, a reserve fullback last year who didn't play much. "He came out to play this year and has been doing a job for us," said Beacham. "He's playing very well."

PHS, HUN WIN, 3-0
In Soccer. The Princeton High School soccer team scored its second shutout in a row Monday, defeating Hightstown, 3-0, and Hun posted its second win in its last three games with a 3-0 shutout of Solebury in a Penn-Jersey League contest.

The Little Tigers' Tom Bolster found his recent move to left wing to his liking as he scored twice for PHS in the first period against the Rams. Joel Schulman added Princeton's third tally as PHS outshot the losers, 27-7. Ron Celestin had two assists and Jon Miller one.

The win kept PHS in a tie with Notre Dame for the lead in the Colonial Valley Conference, where each has won six and tied one for 13 points. PHS, however, has one more loss than the Irish.

Like Princeton, Hun did all its scoring in the first half, getting a pair of goals from Jim Whelan and another from John Muscente, who scored on a penalty kick. Goalie John Claffey turned away nine shots on goal to get his shutout.

The win was only. Hun's third in 12 games but it was an important one. It kept its league hopes alive with a 2-1-1 mark.

PDS LOSES TO WARDLAW
Hun Is Next. The Princeton Day football team was involved in one of the most exciting football games it has ever played Saturday, but unfortunately when the clock ran out the Panthers were on the short end of a 34-26 score. The winner was Wardlaw, who will be the first champion in the Jersey Prep League, formed this year by PDS, Wardlaw, Englewood, Morristown-Beard, Pennington and Gill-St. Bernards.

Now with a record of 2-3-1, it's definitely time for the Blue and White to regroup. Their main goal of the season may have slipped away, but a pair of victories in the two remaining games, would put them over the .500 mark and end the 1977 campaign satisfactorily. Hun and Morristown-Beard are the two opponents.

The Red Raiders, who the Panthers will play at Hun this Saturday at 10:30, have fallen on hard times. They are winless in five starts so far this year, but they are clearly capable of beating PDS. The Blue and White ended Hun's domination on the gridiron last year with a stirring 10-7 victory in the last game, and Hun would love to gain revenge for that. PDS, on the other hand, hopes to demonstrate that in coach Rob Hoffman's words, "it wasn't any fluke."

Although they came out on the losing end, the Princeton Day players have much to be proud of. Down 28-7 at the half, the Panthers roared back after the intermission to close within two points, 28-26 with about five and a half minutes left.

Aided by 90 yards in penalties against PDS, Wardlaw was able to score four times in the first half. The Panthers' only points came on a 50-yard run by Rob Olsson, which narrowed the margin to 12-7 at one point.

However, things changed dramatically in the third quarter. PDS recovered a fumble inside the Wardlaw 10-yard line and converted that opportunity into six points, and a little later blocked a punt near the home team's goal line. It also took full advantage of that break, adding another touchdown.

The third score of the half came on a 30-yard pass play from quarterback Jeff Freda to end Tim Murdoch. That closed the gap to just two points, 28-26, but a try for a two-point conversion failed. "A tie wouldn't have done us any good anyway in the standings," Hoffman pointed out. "We had already tied Pennington and needed to win this one."

Badly shaken by the turn of events, Wardlaw did a superb job of pulling itself together and marched down the field from their 40 after a mix-up on the PDS kickoff. The winners punched over an insurance score with just a minute remaining.

Hoffman had praise for the superb job by Olsson, who rushed for more than 100 yards on offense and led the team in tackles on defense. Hoffman also cited the defensive play of Murdoch and the fine play calling of sophomore quarterback Jeff Freda. The Panthers will miss their co-captain Don Gips, who was injured in the Wardlaw game, and is lost for the final two games.

PDS STILL UNBEATEN
In Soccer. The Princeton Day soccer team ran its unbeaten string to 10 games last Saturday with a 3-0 triumph over Wardlaw. The Panthers are now 9-0-1 with five games left to play.

Rutgers Prep will be the next opponent this Wednesday, and if the Blue and White wins this one, it will be seeded first in the post-season tournament. On Friday it will take on Newark Academy, the last team to defeat PDS on its home field two years ago.

Against Wardlaw last Saturday, PDS spent a frustrating first half knocking at Wardlaw's door, but could not manage to put the ball in. Finally in the third period in the space of five or six minutes, the Panthers scored three times.

Mike Walters got his 50th career goal, 14th of this season, to open the scoring, halfback Steve Pagano got his first, and Walters quickly got his second of the game. Wardlaw did not have much of an offense, getting just one shot on goal to 28 for the winners.

The Montgomery contest was rained out last Wednesday and will be rescheduled, possibly for this Monday.

PHS GIRLS ADVANCE
In NJSIAA Net Tourney. After drawing an opening round bye, the Princeton High School girls tennis team advanced to the third round of the NJSIAA Central Jersey Group 2 state championships last week by defeating St. Rose of Belmar, 3½-1½. PHS, the defending Group 2 Central Jersey champion, is seeded second, while Rumson-Fair Haven, which it defeated last year, is seeded first.

Earlier in the week in regular season play, the Little Tigers blanked Hopewell and West Windsor, both by 5-0 scores. Their overall record is now 11-0.

3 RANKED NATIONALLY
In Master Swimming. The top 10 AAU National Masters Times for short-course distances, which has just been published, lists Tink Bolster, Jim Pendergrass and Ted Snow ranked among the best in the country in their age groups.

Tink Bolster, 124 Parkside Drive, was listed in six different events in the women's 45-49 division: she was first in the nation in the 200 yard butterfly (3:21.85). In addition, she placed fourth in the 400 yard individual medley, sixth in the 200 yard backstroke and 200 yard individual medley, eighth in the 100 yard backstroke, and ninth in the 100 yard butterfly.

Jim Pendergrass of Fackler Road, placed sixth in the 1650 yard freestyle (24:23.38), eighth in the 400 yard individual medley, and tenth in the 200 yard butterfly in the men's 55-59 category.

Ted Snow, formerly of the astrophysics department at Princeton University and now assistant professor of astronomy and physics at the University of Colorado, excelled in the breaststroke, placing second overall in the 100 yard event (1:05.72), and third in the 50 yard and 200 yard breaststroke. He swims in the men's 30-34 group.

Against St. Rose, PHS split in singles play. Vicki Phillips lost, 6-1, 6-0, to St. Rose's top player, Ann Pfister, but Beth Ellis posted an easy 6-0, 6-1 victory in the number three singles.

In the number two match, Diane Aronovic won the first set, 6-2, dropped the second, 6-7, when she lost the tie-breaker, 5-4, and was ahead 5-4 in the third set when it was called for darkness. PHS had already clinched the match by winning both doubles.

In the number one doubles, Sarah and Lisa Merians won a hard-fought match, 6-3, 5-7, 7-5.

The real surprise, according to PHS coach Bill Humes, was the "gutsy" play of the number two pairing of Debbie Blair and Jane Arrington. They began poorly by losing the first set, 5-7, but fought back to win the next two, 6-3, 6-1. "They really came on, they did an outstanding job. It was a great game of tennis," said Humes.

He singled out Arrington, a senior, who has played in the eighth, ninth or tenth position the last two years "but who is always there when you need her."

Princeton's next opponent in tournament play will be Bernards School.

HIGHTSTOWN BOWS, 5-0

To PHS in Girls Tennis. Princeton High proved once again on Monday it is the top team in girls tennis in Mercer County with an easy 5-0 victory over Hightstown. The Little Tigers did not lose a single set.

In singles play, Vicki Phillips won, 6-3, 6-1; Diane Aronovic won, 6-2, 6-2, and Beth Ellis won, 6-0, 6-0. Lisa and Sarah Merians triumphed, 6-2, 6-1, in the number one doubles, while the pairing of Debbie Blair and Jane Arrington won, 6-0, 6-1. PHS is now 12-0.

OPENINGS AVAILABLE

In Pee wee Hockey. There are still openings available in the Pee wee division (ages 7-9) of the Lawrence Ice Hockey League. For information, call 896-0922 or 921-9321.

The Pee wees, under coach Art Manyoky, hope to repeat last year's victory in the Lawrenceville Invitational Tournament. The Bantams, ages 13-14, will be coached by Bruce Deventhal, former Hamilton College player, and Duncan Fisher, former Princeton University player. The ten teams of the League will begin play on November 12.

SOCCER SUNDAY

Matches Were Postponed. International soccer will be played Sunday at noon on Princeton University's Bedford Field.

The Icelandic Airlines team from Reykjavik will oppose the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Company team from New York. The match will be followed by another between the Princeton Varsity "B" team and a team from the Landsbanki, Iceland. The games were originally scheduled for this past Sunday but were postponed because of a nation-wide strike in Iceland.

WINNERS NAMED

In WW Tennis Tournaments, Dick and Dot Dahl, Don and Lorraine Haws, Bruce and Pam Lubitz were winners in the adult mixed doubles tennis tournaments and Gerry and Albert Wang captured the father-son doubles title in fall tournaments in West Windsor.

The Dahls won the title in the Stockton group, defeating Gerry and Sue Wang, 6-4, 6-4, in the finals and Ed and Louette Jordi, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, in the semi-finals. The Haws triumphed in the Borg group, defeating Stan and Stephanie Katz, 6-3, 6-4, in the finals and Ray and Gil Giudice, 6-3, 6-3, in the semis.

The Lubitz's won the Smith group by overcoming Joe and Kitty Menendez, 7-6, 4-6, 6-4, in the finals, and Gary and Beverly Schneider 6-1, 6-3 in the semis.

The Wangs won the father-son title when they defeated Marty and Mark Birnbaum, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4. Lorraine Haws and Emily Hunter captured the womens doubles title with a 7-6, 6-1 win over Gwenda Little and Noreen Fallon.

In the "Men Over 60" singles Bob Little took the title after a long match with Tony Zuccarello, winning 3-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Zuccarello had conquered Olof Hogrelus, 6-1, 6-2, in the semi-finals, while Little advanced to the finals by default.
